

Report Attempt On Life Of Igor Gouzenko

Mayor Believes Strike May End By Next Week

Mayor Percy George today saw hopes of an early settlement of the transportation strike which has crippled business in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster for almost three weeks.

The mayor returned to the city after an all-day conference in Vancouver with four other mayors of coast cities, representatives of the B.C. Electric Railway Company and union representatives.

"As a result of the mutual understanding of the many problems involved, evident by both the company and union representatives, I feel confident that there will be an early settlement of the strike," Mayor George commented. "The attitude of both sides augured well for the acceptance of the new offer by the men."

He said the five union representatives promised that a vote on the new offer, which was not disclosed, would be taken before Saturday, which could put transportation back by the first of next week if the men accept.

Attending the meeting in addition to Mayor George were Mayor Charles Jones, Vancouver; Mayor William Mott, New Westminster; Mayor Jack Loutet of North Vancouver, and Reeve G. A. Morrison of Burnaby.

They called in representatives of both the company and union, and at the request of the two disputants left them to their negotiations for two hours, Mayor George related, during which time the new offer was made.

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's 2,800 striking streetcar and bus employees are expected to vote Thursday on the latest wage and hour proposal for settlement of the 17-day transit tie-up.

President Lloyd Easler of the Street Railwaymen's Union (A.F.L.) and members of the advisory board, considered the new proposal at a meeting during the morning, but made no comment.

A union spokesman at headquarters office declined to confirm that a vote would be taken tomorrow, but it was learned that the vote would be taken either before or after the meeting.

It was indicated at union headquarters that a statement might be issued later today.

It has been reliably reported that the terms of the new offer include the 10-cent-an-hour wage boost previously offered by the company as well as an undertaking that the 40-hour work week will be introduced as soon as sufficient personnel can be trained to fill the extra shifts.

Before, the company offered gradual reductions in working hours with the 40-hour week being reached in March, 1949.

Their World Crashed About Them

Leaning against a tree outside the fortress-grim walls of Bucks County (Pa.) prison, Mrs. Agnes Collins disconsolately awaits admittance to see her husband, James Robert Collins, pictured at right as he ponders the quirk of fate that put him back behind iron bars after 11 years of exemplary life as husband, father and citizen. In 1929 he was sentenced to life imprisonment for complicity in a bank robbery at Citronelle, Ala., in which a murder was committed. He escaped in 1936. He settled in Richland Township, Pa., near Doylestown, set up a well-digging business, married and had two children. This modern Jean Valjean's secret remained undisclosed until his good friend and neighbor, Sheriff H. Raymond Adlum, recently arrested him at the request of Alabama authorities. Labor Party Gets Second Setback In Scottish Municipal Elections

LONDON (AP)—Scottish voters handed Britain's ruling Labor Party another jolting setback in municipal elections Tuesday.

With about 95 per cent of the results tabulated, Labor had dropped a net of 62 seats, losing control of five councils, barely hanging on to industrial Glasgow and winning the upper hand in two small cities—Musselburgh and Selkirk.

The results continued, in a less drastic way, the trend away from Socialism markedly demonstrated by the Conservative landslide in last week-end's English and Welsh balloting for borough councilmen.

Election campaigning in Scotland was less exciting than south of the border, reaching its peak in Glasgow.

There Labor lost three seats but clung to a two-vote majority among the 114 elected councilmen.

As in the English and Welsh local elections, only one-third of the seats were at stake.

Queen Mary Delayed

SOUTHAMPTON (AP)—A brief strike of crew members aboard the Queen Mary today delayed the scheduled sailing of the $1,000-ton liner for New York from 3 p.m. until 4.40 a.m. tomorrow.

"Wildcat" strikers of the crew, who walked off the vessel in support of a nine-day strike of seamen at Liverpool, returned to their jobs aboard the liner tonight, but too late for the ship to leave on the fast-ebbing tide.

In Dundee Labor lost six of the 12 seats being voted on, and the 36-member council was evenly divided between Socialists and their opponents.

The Labor Party also lost control in Paisley, Johnstone and Lanhead, and in Bathgate, where it previously had held half the seats, the local ratepayers' association won back four.

Labor held on at Aberdeen, losing one seat to the "Moderates" but gaining another by ousting the only Communist member of the council.

Big Battle Raging In South Manchuria

PEIPING (AP)—A major battle between warring Chinese armies in southwestern Manchuria and an engagement near the capital of that vast territory were reported in pro-government dispatches today.

The newspaper Shih Chieh Jih Pao reported a 72-hour battle near Ishien, 120 miles west of Mukden, in which 70,000 Chinese Communist troops took part. The dispatch said the Reds sustained 15,000 casualties in attacks on government positions, but did not report the outcome of the battle.

Other Nationalist accounts reported an engagement 20 miles south of Changchun, Manchuria's capital, between 10,000 Reds and a government column pushing northward in an attempt to break the Communist cordon around the capital.

Churchill Says Burma Faced With Much Bloodshed

LONDON (CP)—Winston Churchill, opposing a government bill to give Burma complete independence, declared in the House of Commons today that the rich, east Asiatic country would fall into a "blood welter" when it became free.

"We are bound to dissociate ourselves from the policy and method pursued by the government," declared Churchill, wartime Prime Minister and leader of the Conservative opposition.

Preceding Churchill to the floor of the House, Prime Minister Attlee expressed "deep regret" that Burma had decided against becoming a British dominion.

But he urged the House to pass the independence bill because "the elected representatives of Burma chose independence... and, in our view, nations have the right to decide the nature of their own government."

12,000 SLAIN

Churchill said about 12,000 murders were reported as having taken place in Burma in the first seven months this year.

"It is only a prelude to the blood welter which will soon begin, as it has in India."

In opening the debate, Attlee said that from now on Britain's relationship with Burma will be based on a treaty, and on a friendship which today is stronger than ever.

The government had hoped Burma would remain within the Commonwealth. The Burmans had decided otherwise and had a right to decide their own government.

'Body' Seen Being Dragged Was One Of Three Dummies

A Bank Street woman's report to the city police station at 7.30 last night that "I saw someone dragging a body into a vacant lot at Duchess and Fort Streets" sent Constables Alex Nichol and Harry Fletcher to the scene in a prowler car.

It wasn't a body they found in a vacant lot but certainly one of the queerest sights they have viewed for a long time.

Lying on the ground was a woman—and three life-size dummies of a man, woman and child around her.

The woman was brought to the station with the dummies. Questioned as to what it was all about the police got no answer from her. She would not give her name or address.

Dr. D. E. Alcorn, psychiatrist, was called. The verdict of his examination of the woman was "definitely mental." Her name was finally ascertained.

Further, it was learned she was employed at the Royal Jubilee Hospital and that the dummies, used for training purposes in the Nurses' Home, were the property of the institution.

A charge of retaining the dummies in her possession, well knowing the same to have been stolen, was prepared by police against the woman but C. L. Harrison, prosecutor, told the court he was not proceeding with it.

Soviet Embassy Employee Held; Since Vanished

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal Herald, in a column by its Ottawa correspondent, Harold Dingman said today that "at least one attempt has been made on the life of Igor Gouzenko, the ex-Russian cipher clerk who exposed the Communists' 5th column in Canada."

The story added: "The Royal Canadian Mounted Police will not back up this statement publicly because the Russian embassy in Ottawa is again involved."

"Because of the incident Gouzenko's hideout was changed at once. Although he has had three heavily-guarded locations and a fourth move is now under way, or possibly concluded, Gouzenko was told about the threat to get him and has discussed with the police the possible fate of the person involved."

The attempt was badly conceived and ended in a stupid incident in a Toronto police station. It happened months ago.

The case is on record in both R.C.M.P. and Toronto police files—when a Russian who proved he was an employee of the Ottawa embassy was arrested in a drunken brawl. He had a gun in a shoulder holster and $650 in his pockets.

"Gouzenko thinks he was shot and his body disposed of in the embassy."

"At the time of the incident Gouzenko was living in the Toronto area. Because of this, and, presumably, because of information obtained from the arrested man, there was strong suspicion he was on a mission to eliminate the ex-cipher clerk."

'Speculation' R.C.M.P. Thinks

OTTAWA (CP)—Commissioner S. T. Wood of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police today declined to comment on a Montreal Herald report which stated at least one attempt has been made on the life of Igor Gouzenko.

"I think the story is pure speculation, but I don't wish to comment on it," said Commissioner Wood when he read the report written by Harold Dingman, the Herald's Ottawa correspondent.

in his pockets. At that time police did not announce any link with Gouzenko.

"In a Toronto cell the Russian set up a howl for diplomatic protection. Police searched him and found papers attaching him to the embassy. A phone call was put through to Ottawa and next morning properly accredited officials of the Soviet picked up the prisoner and took him back to Ottawa. He was taken directly to the embassy on Charlotte Street. No person has ever seen him again, either inside or outside the embassy."

"Gouzenko thinks he was shot and his body disposed of in the embassy."

"At the time of the incident Gouzenko was living in the Toronto area. Because of this, and, presumably, because of information obtained from the arrested man, there was strong suspicion he was on a mission to eliminate the ex-cipher clerk."

Communist Bred Crisis In Czechs' Coalition Cabinet

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovakia's coalition cabinet, jammed in a Communist-bred crisis, was summoned today to special session today in an effort to patch up a widening rift between the right and left.

Many predicted that President Edouard Benes, venerated elder statesman, would appear before the cabinet to make a personal appeal that the differences be compromised.

The crisis, born in Slovakia of Communist insistence for broadening the base of Communist influence in the government, was the first serious break in Czech politics in more than two years of postwar life.

It brought a drastic split in the eight-party coalition of Czechs and Slovaks which forms the National Front steering committee. It was precipitated specifically by Communist demands that organizations of laborers, peasants and resistance veterans—be given seats at coalition council tables in the semi-autonomous state of Slovakia "and in the country as a whole."

The crisis resulted Tuesday night in the walkout of three parties from Tuesday's National Front meeting here and the apparent defection of a fourth.

The Slovak Democrats, the Catholic People's Party and the powerful Czech National Socialist Party walked out in the early hours of Tuesday's eight-hour front session and an authoritative source said a representative of the Social Democrats left toward the end of the meeting. When it ended, only the Communists and their sympathizers were present.

Fisheries Prices Support Board Has Nothing To Support

OTTAWA (CP)—The recently established Fisheries Prices Support Board held its second meeting here today and found itself with nothing to support.

Fisheries of both coasts and of the inland provinces are in "a strong position at the moment," a board spokesman said, and there is, "for the present at least, no need for support action by the board." Inventory and marketing conditions generally are more satisfactory than at any time during the last several months.

On the east coast, there are no surplus stocks of frozen fish, while the salt fish market is sound. Prices to fishermen have returned nearly to war-peak levels and there are many orders waiting filling.

He said the board reviewed the first report made by Professor J. R. Dymond, well-known Canadian fisheries scientist, on existing whitefish regulations in the prairie provinces. A study of this problem is being made jointly by the federal and the provincial governments.

On the west coast, the industry is enjoying ready markets for its 1947 canned salmon pack and extensive production of canned herring, mainly for post-Unrra relief feeding abroad, is under way. The board's west coast regional advisory committee has recommended that a comprehensive analysis be made of current fish marketing conditions.

Warns Of D.P.'s Brought As Nurses

OTTAWA (CP)—Arthur Macnamara, deputy minister of labor, said today Canada should be very careful in admitting from European displaced persons' camps women who profess to qualify as trained or practical nurses.

He was commenting on suggestions from various quarters that women from these camps with some training be admitted as practical nurses.

He said there would be "some complications" in absorbing them into the nursing profession. Standards in Canadian nursing were high, and it was not known what the European standards were. In any case, prospective nurses would have to be examined technically.

Avowed Emulator Of Bilbo Runs Last In Voting To Succeed Him

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here are the result of some of the major contests in Tuesday's off-year voting in the United States:

Mississippi—Circuit Judge John A. Stennis, who soft-pedaled the race issue in his campaign, holds lead in Democratic race for U.S. Senate seat left vacant by the death of Theodore G. Bilbo, white supremacy advocate. Rep. John Rankin, who promised to "out-Bilbo Bilbo" trails in five-man field.

Kentucky—Democrats regain control of state government, electing nine-man ticket headed by Rep. Earle C. Clements as gubernatorial candidate. Clements had support of organized labor.

BONUS FOR VETERANS

NEW YORK—Voters approve a $400,000,000 bonus for war veterans by nearly three to one margin. Abraham J. Multer, Democratic candidate with Liberal party backing wins Congressional seat in traditionally Democratic 14th District in Brooklyn.

Ohio—A $300,000,000 bonus for war veterans okayed by a three to one vote. Republicans elect William M. McCulloch as Congressman in the normally Republican 4th district.

Pennsylvania—In only statewide race, Superior Court Judge John S. Fine, Republican, wins re-election. Republicans also retain 63-year control of Philadelphia by re-electing Mayor Bernard Samuel.

Indiana—Republicans elect Ralph Harvey, State legislator, as U.S. Representative from 10th district, but suffer reverses in voting for mayors in many of 102 communities.

California—Republicans picked up two additional seats in the State Assembly when two G.O.P. candidates in Los Angeles defeated labor-endorsed Democrats. Elected were Glenard P. Lipscomb in the 56th District and G. Delbert Morris in the 63rd District.

San Francisco—Voters chose Superior Judge Elmer E. Robinson as their new mayor, approved $87,050,000 in city improvement bonds and overwhelmingly authorized continued operation of the hill-climbing cable cars.

Simple Ceremony At Winant Funeral

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—The body of John G. Winant was buried today with a simple funeral service—the way friends said the former U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain would have wanted it.

There were no eulogies as Bishop John T. Dallas conducted the Protestant Episcopal rites in St. Paul's Church.

Winant shot himself Monday night in what friends described as "a sudden crack-up" brought on by overwork and a "growing disillusionment of today."

Valuation Upheld By Appeal Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Appeal Court has dismissed the appeal of the B.C. Power Commission against a valuation of $1,800,000 placed on the Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities Ltd., whose facilities have been taken over by the commission.

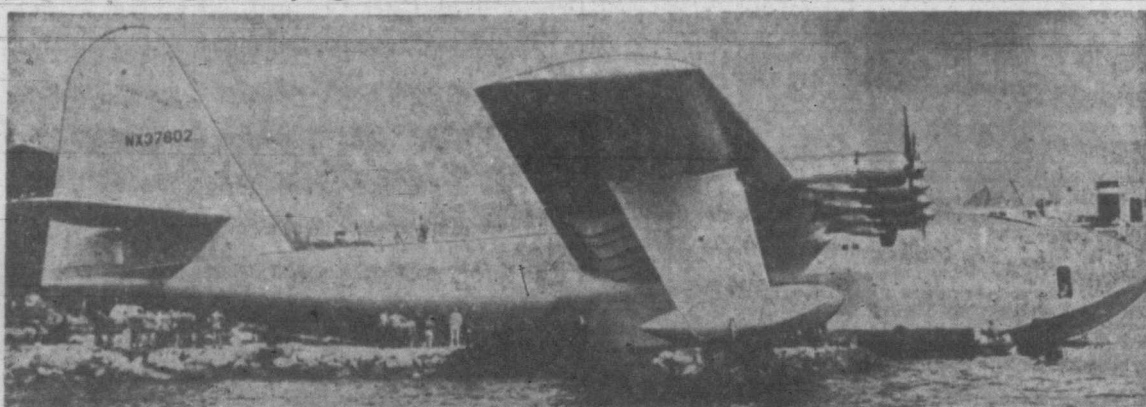

The Appeal Court Tuesday upheld the judgment of Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, who had previously dismissed the commission's appeal from the awards proposed by the American Appraisal Company.

(In Victoria, F. L. Shaw, lawyer, who is member of the commission, indicated it had not yet been decided whether or not the commission would take an appeal to a higher court. Also involved are awards for the West Canadian Hydro-Electric Corporation and its subsidiaries and the Columbia Power Company Ltd. and its subsidiaries.)

(In the Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities case the commission had sought to pay $1,600,000 for the properties taken over Aug. 1, 1945. The appraisal company valued the properties at $1,878,325.)

(West Canadian Hydro properties were valued by the appraisal company at $3,462,020, but the commission has sought to have the properties valued at $2,700,000, while the appraisal company fixed the value of the Columbia Power properties at $334,268, while the commission valued them at $200,000.)

World's Largest Flying Boat Takes To The Air

Howard Hughes' 400,000-pound, $25,000,000 flying boat, the largest sea-going plane in the world, made an unexpected flight when Hughes took it out to taxi around on the water, then changed his mind and lifted it into the air. Its first flight, a brief one, was made at an altitude of 70 feet.

Jury Finds Dr. Vye Guilty Of Unlawfully Supplying Narcotics

Dr. James P. Vye, found guilty by an Assize Court jury of furnishing narcotics to Constable Joseph G. Downey of the R.C.M.P. drug squad, was remanded by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson Tuesday until the end of the assizes for sentence.

In rendering a verdict of guilty as charged, the jury which deliberated the case for more than three hours, recommended leniency because of the age and illness of the accused. Crown evidence at the trial showed that the Victoria physician agreed to supply Constable Downey with morphine in exchange for stolen goods. The R.C.M.P. constable posed as a shoplifter and an underworld character.

Dr. Vye who testified in his own defence at the trial, claimed that Downey had assimilated the role of a salesman suffering from asthma, and had asked for morphine to relieve his suffering. He contended that he had given the drug in good faith to the constable, whom he described as a "persuasive and likeable young man."

Defence Counsel Henry Castilhou, K.C., in his address to the jury, contended that the constable had ruthlessly conspired to obtain a conviction against the accused, whom he termed as a "poor old sick man."

He asked the jury to believe the evidence of Dr. Vye on the grounds that the testimony of Constable Downey was unsupported and was largely circumstantial.

Crown Prosecutor Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said no honest man could believe the testimony of Dr. Vye.

With regard to Dr. Vye's claim that the goods that Constable Downey had given him were left in his possession in security in lieu of payment for professional services, Mr. Wismer said that even if this were so, the accused was charging a high price for the narcotics. "The watch is worth $37," he said, "and in exchange for this he gave the constable about 24 cents worth of morphine."

Mr. Justice Manson in his address to the jury remarked that the narcotic traffic was "one of the most vicious traffics known to our society."

Attack On Byrnes

MOSCOW (AP)—Both the government newspaper Izvestia and the Communist organ Pravda published five-column articles today accusing former State Secretary James F. Byrnes of the United States of "war-mongering" in his book "Frankly Speaking."

Sherbrooke Bishop Supports Strikers

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Mgr. Philippe Desranleau, Roman Catholic Bishop of Sherbrooke, describing a strike of Dominion Textile Company workers at Sherbrooke and Magog as "legal... just... prudent," has appealed for a speedy end to the "social injustice inflicted on the textile workers."

In a letter to the workers, dated Nov. 3, the day on which approximately 6,000 textile workers in four provincial mills quit their jobs, the bishop said the workers had no option but to strike. The letter was made public today.

"This strike is legal, it is just, it is prudent," the letter said. "There is no doubt about that. The workers, with extraordinary patience, waited nine months for the decision of the arbitration board; they accepted it, although it imposed certain sacrifices on them; they observed the... of civil law and the directives of the syndicate heads."

He appealed to the workers—about 2,700 are affected in this district—to "remain firm, prudent, obey the law, respect the person and property of those who forced you to cease your work."

Prairie Educator Funeral Tuesday

James Duff, whose funeral was held Tuesday from McCall Brothers Funeral Home, was one of western Canada's better known educationalists, having been an inspector of schools in Saskatchewan prior to his retirement to Sidney in 1924.

Mr. Duff died in Royal Jubilee Hospital after a brief illness. He is survived by a brother, Isa Duff, in Ottawa, Ont.

He was born near Renfrew, Ont., and graduated with honors from Queen's University in 1899. He taught high schools in both Ontario and Saskatchewan.

Mr. Duff is chiefly noted for his contribution to progressive education in Saskatchewan. One of his major interests was the classics, particularly the literature of Greece and Rome.

SEARCHERS FIND DEATH PLANE—A state trooper examines the wreckage of the plane that carried Governor Earl Snel of Oregon and two other state officials to their deaths. Airplanes first spotted the wreckage. Ground searchers finally cut their way through the wilds near Klamath Falls, Ore., to remove the bodies.

Weather

Weather today and tomorrow, valid until midnight Nov. 6:

Cold, frosty weather prevailed over the province this morning. With clear skies and light winds overnight temperatures dropped to low of 6 at Kimberley, 14 at Cranbrook, 16 at Prince George. Freezing temperatures were recorded over the coast with the low of 28 at Comox.

The cloud and precipitation will spread slowly southeastward bringing rain to the low levels and snow to high levels of the southern coast this afternoon. Cloudy skies with some snow flurries are expected at most interior points during the afternoon.

Vancouver and vicinity, lower Fraser Valley—Overcast today. Rain changing to snow at higher levels afternoon and evening. Thursday cloudy, winds light. Little change in temperature. Frost low areas Thursday morning.

Georgia Strait—Today overcast. Snow flurries northern portion changing to intermittent rain and snow mixed by noon. Intermittent rain southern portion with snow higher levels afternoon and evening. Thursday cloudy. Winds light today and Thursday. Little change in temperature. Frost overnight.

West Coast Vancouver Island—Intermittent rain today. Cloudy Thursday. Winds light today northwest 15 Thursday. Little change in temperature.

BOSTON OPTIONS PAIR

BOSTON (AP)—The National Hockey League's Boston Bruins Tuesday released two forwards—on 24 hours' recall notice—to Hershey Bears of the American League. They are John Peirson, 22, right winger, and Paul Ronty, 19, centre. Both played with Hershey last season.

CHAMBERLAIN IMPROVES

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Dick received some good news today when it was learned that Murph Chamberlain, scrappy Montreal Canadiens' forward who suffered a broken leg at Detroit last week, would be back on skates Dec. 15 and may possibly see league action before the year-end.

Hughes Inquiry Resumed On More Dignified Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles E. Wilson testified today that "outside pressure" was exerted against the United States War Production Board in 1943 to prevent cancellation of Howard Hughes' contract to build the world's largest flying boat.

Questioned by Chairman Homer Ferguson (Rep.-Mich.) of a Senate war investigating committee, Wilson said that Henry J. Kaiser was one of those who brought such "pressure."

Wilson, who headed the War-time Aircraft Production Board, was the first witness as the committee resumed hearings, interrupted last August, into Hughes' $40,000,000 worth of contracts to build the flying boat and photo reconnaissance planes.

Wilson, president of the General Electric Company, testified he had ordered the contract for the 200-ton flying boat canceled in 1943 because "in my best judgment it could not be completed in time to serve the war effort."

Subsequently, Wilson's cancellation order was reversed by President Roosevelt, who directed that the project go ahead. The big plane has been under construction since and took to the air for the first time last Sunday during a trial taxi run.

NO MORE CIRCUS

Meanwhile, Chairman Ferguson said he wanted to get away from "this Hollywood stuff" and conduct the resumed hearings as "a serious matter."

He did not expect Hughes, the millionaire airplane builder and movie producer, to be on hand for the session today, but he did expect John W. Meyer, Hughes' publicity agent who held the spotlight at the first hearing.

Plainly eager to avoid the circus atmosphere of the previous hearing, which ended suddenly Aug. 11, Ferguson asked photographers, radio men and newsreel camera men to help the committee keep the show dignified.

The Hughes investigation has revolved around two contracts, one for $18,000,000 to build a huge wooden flying boat and another for $22,000,000 to develop a photo-reconnaissance plane.

The government originally ordered 100 of the photo planes, but reduced the contract to three. The first one to fly, crashed with Hughes last year and injured him seriously.

Canadians Asked To Remember Nov. 11

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj. Gen. C. B. Price, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, appealed Tuesday night to all Canadians to observe Remembrance Day, Nov. 11.

He said in a statement that government authorities and industry managements should give employees an opportunity to attend memorial services by closing business places at least until noon.

"Remembrance Day should be observed as a solemn, holy day on which we remember the sacrifice of those splendid young lives by which our Christian democratic way of life... has been preserved," he concluded.

Remembrance Day is a federal statutory holiday in Canada, but observance is not compulsory except for banks and Dominion government offices.

Union Dispute Going To Courts

VANCOUVER (CP)—Notice was given here Tuesday of a proposed formal application for a B.C. Supreme Court order to establish the authority of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' and Bartenders' International Union over that of Vancouver Local 28, which is disputing the right of international officers to interfere in the internal affairs of the local.

The action was taken by R. S. Stultz, acting for his partner, Senator J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., in behalf of Archie Johnstone, Canadian vice-president of the parent body.

The complaint is directed against Mrs. Emily Watts, president; May Leniczek, secretary-business agent; Roy Moore, organizer, and J. Nuttall, who opposed Johnstone's effort to conduct an inquiry here and to take over the books and property of the local under authority of a letter signed by Hugo Ernst, international president of the union.

Meanwhile, the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.) has suspended voice and vote privileges from the local until it "puts its house in order."

A written request from Johnstone that Miss Watts and Mrs. Leniczek be barred from active council participation started a stormy debate during which several delegates maintained the council had no right to suspend the executives until either their union's international or membership of their local replaces them.

An uproar arose when council president Birt Showler put the question to a voice vote and a stand-up vote showed 27 for and 39 against the council's recommendation that restaurant union delegates be suspended, due to a trusteeship imposed on their local by Mr. Johnstone.

No Contract, No Work Seamen's Union Says

VANCOUVER (CP)—James Thompson, Canadian Seamen's Union delegate to the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council, told the council that Nov. 15 represents a "no contract, no work" deadline for 6,000 deepsea sailors, and that meetings were now being held on ships at sea.

Union crewmen of 10 west coast vessels have already voted to strike, he said.

Some 1,600 officers will go on strike at the same time as seamen unless some agreement is reached by the Maritime Joint Council (A.F.L.), which represents three officer groups as well as the S.C.U., with ship operators.

A strike would tie up more than 150 Canadian deepsea ships, including about 110 ships in eastern Canada and the Maritimes.

U.N. Kills Soviet Proposal On Korea

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The political committee of the United Nations Assembly by a vote of 20 to 6 today rejected a Soviet demand for withdrawal of U.S. and Russian troops from Korea by next Jan. 1.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko announced immediately after this defeat that Russia would not participate in voting on State Secretary Marshall's proposal for U.N.-supervised elections in Korea before March 31.

Snow Ends Mild Fall On Prairies

WINNIPEG (CP)—The prairies looked today at snow-whitened fields, read forecasts of more snow and near-freezing temperatures and, now that the rigorous winter season appeared at hand, gave thanks for an unusually mild and open autumn.

As if to atone for the drought it had visited on many parts of the plains during the summer, nature had provided a fall which had saved farmers money and feed, enabled construction and highway programs to proceed beyond expectations and lessened householders' fuel bills.

With a warm September and temperatures averaging over 40 during October, there was much to be thankful for.

For the farmer, already faced with heavy feed bills brought on by the packinghouse strike, it enabled him to graze his livestock and save much-needed grain supplies. It also aided in getting fall harvesting, threshing and plowing completed, which were held up in some areas by labor shortages and wet weather.

The southern Alberta sugar beet fields also were favored by the unusual weather. It permitted the 370,000-ton crop, valued at $11,000,000, to be harvested without interruption.

Naval Stores Workers Seek Wage Adjustments

OTTAWA (CP)—A special committee of the Civil Service Federation of Canada today waited on Charles Bland, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, to bring to his attention conditions which federation officials say exist at Esquimalt and Halifax naval stores.

Federation officials said complaints have been received that naval stores employees now are working under "difficult" circumstances. They said a survey made last March in Halifax has been rejected as presenting an incomplete picture and that since the survey employees at the two bases have been advised there has been a cut in their salaries retroactive to March 31, 1947.

They added packers, helpers, storemen, regardless of grades, and assistant technicians, have been "disturbed" by the peacetime classification offered them.

Britain Planning Drastic Overhaul Of Penal System

LONDON (AP)—The government undertook Tuesday to overhaul Britain's ancient system of criminal punishment in a bill calling for the abolition of flogging and hard labor.

The measure, published to night, made no mention of a proposal to suspend the death penalty for a five-year experimental period.

An amendment calling for the abolition of capital punishment, informed sources said, probably will be proposed by "back-bench" Labor members, many of whom have announced their opposition to the death penalty.

Though the measure abolishes whipping as a punishment that may be ordered by the courts, flogging will be retained (no more than 18 strokes for a prisoner over 21 and no more than 12 for those under 21) for grave offences against prison discipline.

Union Need Not Produce Minutes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson in Supreme Court here Tuesday declined to order R. H. Neelands, secretary of the Vancouver local of the International Typographical Union, to produce union meeting minutes.

He made his ruling in the trial of the Vancouver Daily Province damage action against I.T.U. executives. The newspaper seeks damages of $250,000.

"It seems a strange thing that the minutes are not being made available at this trial, but that seems to be the law," said Mr. Justice Manson.

U.S. Says Bluntly Russia Failing To Co-operate On Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, in a new foreign policy statement, Tuesday bluntly accused Russia of failing to co-operate in efforts to establish peace.

The document, which sets forth this nation's position on postwar problems, declares:

1. Russia is to blame for failure of the United Nations "to grasp the fruits of peace and victory."

2. The Soviets have failed to make good on wartime commitments for the demilitarization and reconstruction of Germany.

3. The U.S.S.R. is mainly interested in getting "maximum reparations" from Germany and in setting up a German political regime "friendly" to the Soviet.

These and similar charges, most of them previously aired by government leaders, are summed up in a statement entitled "Aspects of current American foreign policy."

"A basic aim of the United States," the report says, "is to press for the necessary treaty settlements which will permit withdrawal of occupation troops from Germany, Austria, Korea and Japan and enable all nations of the world to return as soon as possible to a peacetime basis."

Langford Legion Opens New Hall

Mr. Barr officially opened the new hall at a meeting attended by 75 Legion members and members of the Women's Auxiliary. Situated in a convenient position on Dumfries Road, the new hall is a converted army hut and has been renovated to contain two meeting rooms, kitchen, library and cloakrooms. It is planned to use the hall as a social centre as well as a meeting place.

Mr. Barr, Bob Knight (zone representative) and Carl Fallas, chairman of Victoria District Zone Council, were guest speakers.

Dismiss Henderson Murder Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Court of Appeal Tuesday sustained an Assize Court jury's verdict of murder against William Henderson, 17-year-old youth under sentence to hang Nov. 19 for the slaying of Constable Charles Boyes.

Harry Medos, 22, already has paid on the gallows for the slaying of Boyes, who died in a flaming gun battle here last February in which one other police officer and a bandit also were killed.

However, J. G. Gould, Henderson's counsel, still held out hope for appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada since Mr. Justice O'Halloran dissented from the majority decision of the Appellate Court and would have ordered a new trial.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran's reasons for dissenting were disclosed.

Dominion-Provincial Farm Parley Called

MONTREAL (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said here a Dominion-provincial conference to discuss Canada's farm problems and the agricultural program for next year has been called for Dec. 2 and 3.

Mr. Gardiner, stopping briefly in Montreal en route to Halifax, said notices of the meeting had gone to the provinces and that in addition to Dominion and provincial agricultural officials, representatives of leading farm organizations and the farm press have been invited.

Fire Bell May Ring Curfew For Kiddies At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — Curfew for children at Port Alberni may ring if Fire Chief Venables agrees to the council's proposals that the firehall bell be used to toll the hour of nine each night.

At the meeting Monday, council decided that if the chief agrees, the provincial police will be instructed to enforce the regulation. Suggestion was that the bell toll three times in units of three rings, making a total of nine. The council felt this would not interfere with use of the bell as an alternative to the fire siren.

When used for fire, the bell is rung steadily for a long period. It was the belief of P.T.A. representatives who met council last week that too many young children are on the streets at night. Attitude of the police has been that they do not want to be too severe.

Metchosin Club Elects Mrs. Mathews

METCHOSIN — Mrs. R. F. Mathews was unanimously elected president of the Metchosin and District Community Club at the annual election of officers in Metchosin Hall.

Ralph Willing was elected vice-president; A. J. Duggan, secretary, and Miss Chris Read, treasurer. The executive committee elected were: E. Sudhues, Mrs. M. Helgesen, Miss N. Hunter, Miss R. Beckingham and R. J. Weir, the retiring president. R. J. Weir acted as chairman.

Canadian Delegate To U.N. Fears Trouble In Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—Canada warned today that whatever plan is adopted for settlement of the Palestine question "there is danger that events will overreach us, that we will be unable to take effective action in time and that confusion and disorder will follow upon the withdrawal of Britain, the mandatory power."

Making a long statement for the Dominion before the Palestine sub-committee of the United Nations, L. B. Pearson said the urgency of determining the method of implementation "is magnified by the declared intention of the mandatory power to withdraw from Palestine in the near future."

Pearson said that in discussing the merits of the three proposals presented by the United States, Russia and Guatemala, it must be recognized that what is contemplated by the majority report on Palestine "is a major political operation."

For its successful execution, if the General Assembly decides to take affirmative action, the United Nations itself must assume "grave responsibilities."

"We are now confronted with a problem which will strain the resources and endanger the prestige of this organization, and it is urgently necessary not only for the people of Palestine, but for the whole United Nations, that we find a solution."

He emphasized that such a political operation must be constitutionally sound, practicable and effective.

"In our view, the withdrawal of the mandatory power would create a legal vacuum in Palestine."

This legal question resolves itself into the question of what action the U.N. can take, or institute, so that the legal vacuum may be filled.

On the score of practicability, Pearson said measures taken "must be best calculated to bring about a rapid peaceful settlement in Palestine when the mandatory power withdraws."

He forecast great administrative difficulties under any system.

"We must... endeavor to make sure that these administrative difficulties are kept to a minimum. Careful consideration should also be given in advance to steps which could or might be taken by the U.N. should the settlement not work out peaceably in the manner contemplated."

The Canadian delegate then dealt in detail with the three proposals advanced for a Palestine settlement and also touched on the question of a possible trusteeship.

As had been forecast, he principally outlined the difficulties in each proposal in an effort to crystallize the thoughts of the sub-committee on these special problems.

60 Houses Under Construction At New Cowichan Townsite

LAKE COWICHAN — The new townsite at Lake Cowichan will be called "Parkstone" in honor of Carlton Stone, who was largely responsible for having the project brought here.

While ex-servicemen in the lumber industry will have first choice for the homes, employees of Western Forest Industries Ltd. at Honeymoon Bay, Hillcrest Lumber Co. Ltd., at Mesachie Lake and at Lake Cowichan will share the remainder of the homes.

There are now 60 of the houses in various stages of construction, with 100 men on the site aside from the sub-contractors. Some of the houses, nearly finished are being painted. The houses are 4, 5 and 6-room buildings. Outside finishes are shingle, stucco and cedar siding. Garner Bros. of Duncan are the contractors. Alan Castley of Lake Cowichan is already running the electric light poles and wires to the project. The water and sewerage systems have been laid out.

Many of the homes are now clearly visible from the South Shore Road. The site, overlooking the Lake Cowichan High School, is on a high elevation with a view of Lake Cowichan.

Metchosin Party

METCHOSIN — Metchosin Community Club held a Halloween party for the children of the district in Metchosin Hall.

The hall was decorated in the Halloween motif and the fancy dress costumes of the children added to the color of the occasion. Prize-winners were: Joan Middlemiss, Billy Duggan, Bette-Marie Carlson, Roland Sudhues, Eva Bligh, Sandra Pennington and Tony Pike.

Building Figures Show Slight Drop

PORT ALBERNI — Port Alberni building figures so far this year total $1,171,400, compared with $1,203,560 at the same date last year, according to the October report of W. Venables, building inspector.

Figures for October listed 15 dwellings, $61,300; two alterations, $1,300; one apartment alteration, $1,000; sheds, garages, etc., $1,900; total, $65,500.

Map Showing Treasure Believed Found In North

YORK FACTORY, Man. (CP)—Game officer Joe Bignell of this northern Manitoba outpost near the mouth of the Nelson River today cherished a crumpled piece of parchment which he hopes will lead him next spring to a long-buried treasure.

According to legends of the early 19th century trade wars between the Hudson's Bay and Northwest Fur Companies, H.B.C. employees at York buried a treasure rather than allow it to fall into the hands of besieging Northwest Company men. Then the map was lost.

It is this map Bignell believes he may have found. But all he'll say about it is that he has it and that he plans to "do a little treasure hunting next spring."

NEW ELECTIONS FOR EIRE

ALTHOUGH THE LIFE OF THE present Dail Eireann or Parliament of Eire does not expire until 1949, Mr. de Valera, whose government last week sustained two defeats in three by-elections, has decided to ask his people for new instructions early next year. Voting strength in the lower chamber is now divided as follows: Fianna Fail, or Government Party, 74; Fine Gael, or United Ireland Party, 30; Farmer, 12; Labor, eight; Independent, eight; National Labor, four; the Clann Na Poblachta Party, or Left Republicans, two—a total of 138.

It should be noted that Mr. de Valera announced a week or so ago that if the Irish Republican Army under its new title of Clann Na Poblachta defeated his own nominees in the by-elections he would "go to the country." His announcement the other day confirms his decision. How much strength the old I.R.A. following will be able to command in a general appeal is largely problematical. While the Prime Minister was adamant in his neutral stand during the war years—a state of neutrality to which Eire appears to have conformed rigidly despite the handicaps it imposed on the Allies—it is obvious that in recent months Dublin's relations with Westminster have reflected a spirit of economic harmony with mutual advantage. Trade between the two countries has grown considerably, as it was bound to do, since each produces what the other requires.

Mr. de Valera's Fianna Fail Party, as originally constituted, advocated an independent, Irish Republic in friendly association with Britain; and "to ensure this friendly association" it urged "that the partition of Ireland by British statute of 1920 should be ended." In June of last year, moreover, the Prime Minister defined in the Dail Eireann Eire's status as "an independent republic associated, as a matter of external policy, with the states of the British Commonwealth." Under the provisions of the treaty of 1921, however, Ireland accepted Dominion status for the time being under the name of the Irish Free State (Saorstát Eireann), and the border between the 26 counties of the south and the six counties of Northern Ireland was fixed in December, 1925, before Mr. de Valera came to power. But when the new constitution was approved by the electorate on the advocacy of the present Prime Minister, the former name of Ireland (Eire) was restored, the preamble of its constitution reading as follows:

"In the Name of the Most Holy Trinity, from Whom is all authority and to Whom, as our final end, all actions both of men and States must be referred, We, the people of Eire, humbly acknowledging our obligations to our Divine Lord, Jesus Christ, Who sustained our fathers through centuries of trial, Gratefully remembering their heroic and unremitting struggle to regain the rightful independence of our Nation, and seeking to promote the common good, with due observance of Prudence, Justice and Charity, so that the dignity and freedom of the individual may be assured, true social order attained, the unity of our country restored, and concord established with other nations, Do hereby adopt, enact, and give to ourselves this Constitution."

The foregoing, in simple parlance, is quite a document in itself. But what has caused Mr. de Valera, who was first elected in 1932 and has been re-elected five times since, to announce a general election for early next year is the interesting emergence of the I.R.A. as a political party, now apparently imbued with the idea of winning through popular support what it failed to win with gun and bomb. But "partition" is still a large bone of contention with the Prime Minister.

HOLD ON, MR. HILL

REGARDLESS OF WHAT HIS personal opinions may be, Mr. C. Bruce Hill, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, could not be accused of good manners when he told the annual meeting of the Manitoba Associated Boards of Trade in Winnipeg last week that Great Britain's Socialist government was "the greatest hoax ever perpetrated on a civilized nation." Many will hesitate to contest his argument that Britain is at present governed "by a party which came into power on a platform of less work and more wealth for all," or with his additional contention that this philosophy is "the greatest fallacy of all time." But it is not to be supposed that the administration over which Mr. Attlee presides will be defeated with the assistance of outsiders when it asks for new instructions from the electors at some unpredictable date in the future.

By the same token, of course, we in Canada are threatened by a political force which is trying to impress our people with the idea that it has the key to the promised land. So the average Briton—and men and women in the Old Land take their politics very seriously—may say to Mr. Hill and to those who are similarly vocal in respect of matters which, to be frank, should be discussed in a minor key, that their best policy would be to confine themselves to a domestic scene which will be improved only by constructive thought and action. And despite the remarkable change of feeling as manifested at the municipal elections in the British provinces on Saturday, the fact still remains that Britons have the happy faculty of dealing effectively with their own problems in their own way—without the aid of long-range treatment from other peoples. Canadians, too, look with displeasure on gratuitous external advice.

'MR. OAK BAY'

IN THE MUNICIPAL LIFE OF BRITISH Columbia the name of Mr. Robert F. Blandy, clerk and treasurer of the Corporation of Oak Bay, has been a by-word for years. His assiduous attention to the interests of the municipality for more than a quarter of a century has been a determining factor in raising it to, and maintaining it in, the position of eminence it now holds—reputedly the richest municipality in British Columbia. An exponent of sound and orthodox financing, he has persuaded council after council to live within its income, has succeeded in his continuous campaign for a low mill rate, and has kept Oak Bay bonds in the preferred listings even when other municipal issues became less favorable risks during depression times.

With his policies—many, particularly representatives of the sister municipalities in Greater Victoria, have disagreed. They have, on occasion, challenged his attitude on the grounds that the wider interests of the larger community have not always been served by the principles to which he adhered. But they have never been in a position to criticize his loyalty to Oak Bay, or his ability to take care of that municipality—in other words, to fulfill the tasks to which he dedicated himself.

During his tenure of office the municipality has grown from a relatively sparsely populated district to an imposing residential section boasting, as an ancillary development, a substantial business community. In that expansion, Mr. Blandy has played a conspicuous and important part. As representative of Oak Bay on innumerable occasions, he has proved an able champion, winning his points with the application of a patience and courtesy that has been singularly successful. Now, at the end of an era, as he prepares to retire from the posts he has filled so adequately, he may rest assured that his people sincerely endorse the tribute paid to him by Reeve Walter Walker: "No man, over a period of more than a quarter-century, has given more unselfish service or shown more devotion to duty." He was, indeed, "Mr. Oak Bay."

COMING PROBLEM

A NEW PROBLEM, NOT PRESSING AT the moment but destined to become one of first magnitude, is engaging the attention of atomic scientists. It concerns the safe disposal of the waste material from the atomic piles or ovens which in the future will be developed to provide power from atomic energy. An inescapable concomitant of the production of atomic power is the formation of radio-active matter which will continue to emit harmful radiation for hundreds and, in some cases, millions of years.

The disposal of ordinary wastes often provides a civic or industrial problem difficult of solution. Factory refuse may contaminate a nearby river; garbage may clutter the seashore; noxious gases, the waste product of industry, may destroy vegetation in the surrounding country. But usually such difficulties can be overcome. The harmful poisons may be neutralized or removed, the bulk wastes may be buried on land or in the sea, the deleterious effects may be counteracted by chemicals, heat or mechanical processes.

It is otherwise with radio-active materials. Buried in large quantities, they would continue to emit their deadly rays, destroying the ground for further use. Dumped into the sea, they would contaminate the water, as was proved at Bikini, not only activating marine life, but spreading their fatal emanations over wide areas as ocean currents carried them away. Blown into the air, the resultant dust and gases would still be radio-active, and the winds would carry their harmful effects across country. When it is considered that future atomic energy production may result each year in wastes with a radiation power, according to one estimate, equal to that of 10,000 tons of radium, the problem of their disposal assumes proportions which might give us pause to contemplate our future. Have we called into being a juggernaut which eventually will destroy its creators even when its use is confined to the peaceful purposes of industry?

'BIG RED'

WHERE THEY TELL THE STORIES OF great horses on this continent, they will continue to relate the exploits of Man O'War, the magnificent stallion who passed to the allegoric green pastures last week. For most of his 30 years his name had been the synonym for excellence among thoroughbreds, a great figure on the track and a greater as the sire of sensational offspring. Yet his pre-eminence will not rest solely on the measured judgment of those most competent to calculate his abilities. It will be based, too, on the inspiration of the public stirred by his record as by no other achievement in equine history.

"Big Red" towered above the champions of his sport as Bobby Jones rose above the titleholders of golf in his day—as Babe Ruth did above the home-run artists of his and later eras. The passing years will add legends to Man O'War's accomplishments. In life he had virtually attained mythical stature. And future generations of horsemen, learning the lore of their elders, will hold him as the yardstick by which to measure greatness in their time.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP, from Vienna

AN ISLAND OF COURAGE

THE HEART OF AUSTRIA is occupied by the Soviets. The leaders of Austria live always in the shadow of danger from an occupying power which includes kidnapping among the legitimate political methods. Under the circumstances, it is decidedly impressive to hear these men and their supporters boldly comparing the present grim times to the great days 300 years ago, when the Turkish advance into Europe was halted under Vienna's walls. Yet this comparison is a commonplace of political talk here.

To be sure the Austrian leaders of today conspicuously differ in manner and appearance from the Starhemburgs and Sobieskis, the princes of the flamboyant past. They are plain men in worn business suits, who look rather incongruous amid the imperial portraits and baroque decorations that the Hapsburgs left behind them.

THEY ARE ALSO widely assorted. Vice-Chancellor Schaefer, for example, is an old-time Socialist who knew Lenin when he crept through the Vienna streets as an exile, while the young, tough foreign Minister Gruber, of the Catholic peoples party, made his name in the resistance. Yet they are all entirely united on one point.

These Austrian leaders will not be worn down in their resistance to the long, ruthless Soviet effort to destroy Austria's independence. And despite every kind of inducement, ranging from bribery of special groups to the most violent propaganda, the Austrian people are staying with their leaders. Whereas in western Europe the Communists command 20 to 30 per cent of the vote in most national elections, only five per cent of the Austrians vote Communist at polling places actually watched over by Russian troops.

HERE IS A RIDDLE which demands to be solved. The solution is very simple. The Austrians are anti-Communist because they know what it is like to belong to the Soviet sphere. And they are able to continue the struggle for their independence because the United States and the other western powers also have troops in Austria. Americans, British and French at the control council table in Vienna have almost daily checked the Soviets when they sought too flagrantly to breach their promise of Austrian independence. Both by their presence and more directly, the Americans, British and French, and especially the Americans and British, have also encouraged the Austrians to struggle for freedom. The result is the present situation.

For the Austrians, however, the present situation is a cruel stalemate. The Soviets say they will not leave Austria except on terms which will undermine Austria's sovereignty. These terms the Austrians and the western powers will not accept. Yet the occupation is a dead hand on Austria, which will always prevent the revival of normal life.

THE AUSTRIANS THEMSELVES think there is a remote chance that the Soviets will make a bargain at London. If they are right, the Soviets on the one hand will reduce their "German assets" stronghold on the Austrian economy. On the other hand, the western powers, and especially America, will have to guarantee the new Austria long-term economic and political support. Political support will be needed to permit the Austrian government to root out the various political mines and trip ropes which the Soviets have planted here and there.

As for economic support, something like $600,000,000 will have to be spent on Austrian reconstruction in the next four years, if even a much weakened Soviet economic stronghold is to be prevented from closing again. Power development, agriculture and forestry improvement, new industries to replace key plants lost to the Soviets, will all be needed to guarantee Austria's real independence.

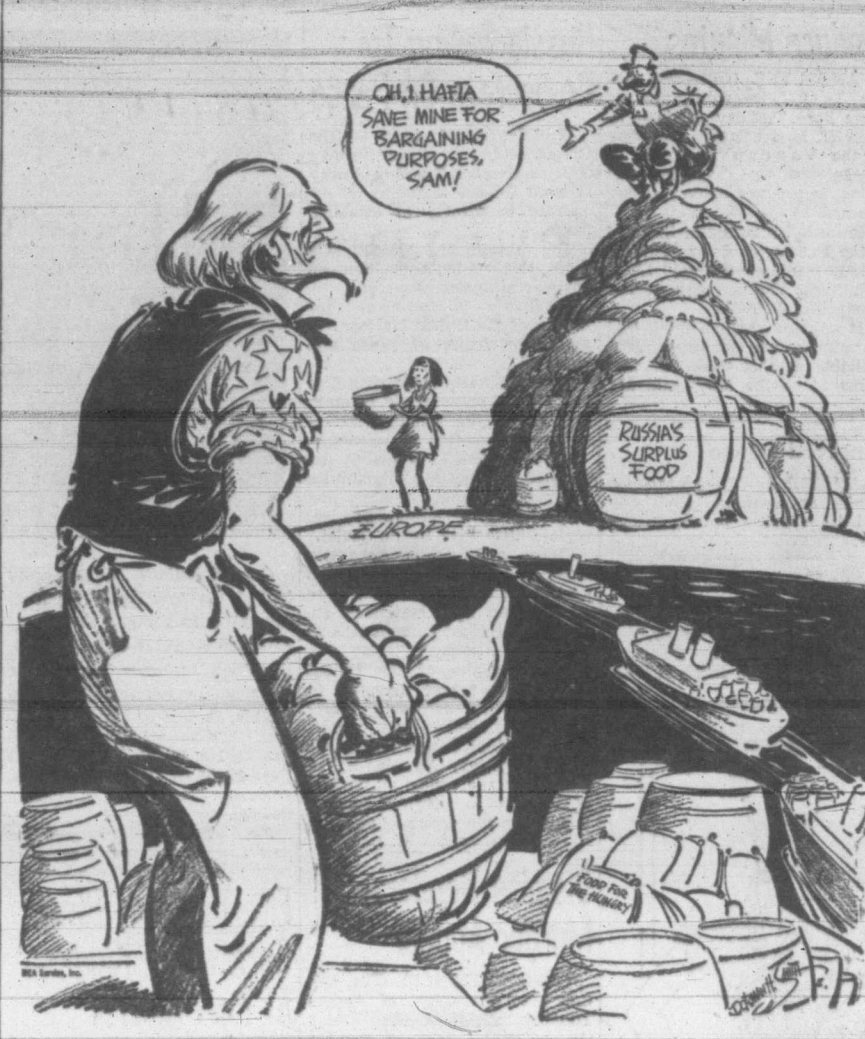

MORE PROBABLY THE Soviets will reject any reasonable bargain at London. Then the Austrians will probably ask the western powers to liquidate military government in their zones, but to leave their troops in Austria as a protection for the state until the Russians go. They will also ask increased relief and rehabilitation allowances, to help their people through the hard time of the continued resistance. Finally there is the possibility that the Soviets will go even further, dividing Austria and refusing to recognize the government's authority in their zone. But no one likes even to speculate on this possibility. For such drastic Russian action—very clearly implied active Russian preparation for early world conflict. All these are sobering thoughts for any American. Austria is one of the key points in the western world, whether strategically or politically or militarily. Americans have the largest share of responsibility for the degree of Austrian freedom that exists today.

AS TO THE FUTURE, under each of the alternatives set forth above, America is also destined to play the leading role. The responsibilities of preponderant resources and power can only be shirked at the expense of new and bigger Munichs. That is the Austrian moral.

'How Much Am I Bid?'

'Remember, Remember'

CHILDREN IN ENGLAND tonight are celebrating with bonfires, fireworks and effigies, the famous Gunpowder Plot of Nov. 5, 1605. But the desperate plan of a group of English conspirators to blow up King James I and his Parliament in retaliation for the re-application of laws against Roman Catholics has for the most part lost its political and religious significance. In these times, as Guy Fawkes Day, it is merely the excuse for a celebration and fun of the kind that appeals to any child.

PLOTTERS MET

Three hundred and forty-two years ago, however, it was much otherwise. Religion was a hot political question, and King James, in a resurgence of activity, had called for enforcement of the anti-Catholic laws with renewed vigor. A group of English Catholics met, probably as early as January, 1604, to devise some extreme measure to meet the new campaign. Later they interested others of their faith in the scheme, which took form as an attempt to blow up the Parliament in session, thus wiping out the King and his law-makers. Three Jesuit fathers also were in on the plot.

In April, 1605, one Guy Fawkes was brought over from Flanders to do the actual deed. A chamber underneath the House of Lords had been rented by the conspirators the month before, and in it were stored 36 barrels containing about a ton and a half of gunpowder. The explosive was hidden under piles of faggots and coal. By May the preparations were complete and the plotters separated to await their opportunity.

WARNING NOTE

Parliament was scheduled to open on Nov. 6. As early as Oct. 26, however, one of the members, Lord Montague, received a note, warning him in urgent but ambiguous terms, not to attend the opening. "For though there be no appearance of any stir," the note read, "yet I say they shall receive a terrible blow, the Parliament, and yet they shall not see who hurts them."

Authorship of the letter has never been proved, but evidence points to Francis Tresham, a brother-in-law of Lord Montague, who was one of the conspirators. Montague immediately showed the letter to other lords, and precautions were taken. It was not until Nov. 4, however, that the cellar under the Parliament was searched. The plot blew up, figuratively speaking, under those who had hatched it.

Guy Fawkes was arrested and put to the torture. By Nov. 8 the plotters, who found no support among the people, had been rounced up. Eight were hanged, drawn and quartered, Tresham died in the Tower of London, and one of the priests, Garnet, was executed. So ended the Gunpowder Plot.

POPULAR VERSION

Much of the popular conception of the event has been based on the famous painting of Guy Fawkes being caught, torch in hand, in the act of touching off the gunpowder. Actually, of course, he was apprehended two days before the Parliament was to meet. As in so many historical events, the imaginative version has found more popular favor than the fact. Guy Fawkes, bathed in notoriety by succeeding generations of the children of England, has been burned in effigy thousands of times.

In recent years, it may be said, he has been replaced on numerous occasions by "stand-ins." Throughout the First Great War Kaiser Wilhelm was the bonfire victim. Trotsky was a later subject for vilification. Hitler reigned supreme on the bonfires for five years. As yet he has had no widely "popular" successor, but time undoubtedly will produce an acceptable candidate to be destroyed in a shower of sparks as the children sing: "Remember, remember the Fifth of November; Gunpowder, treason and plot. . . .—B.A.T.

The Moving Finger Writes . . .

PLEA FOR REASON

Capital and Labor have four children: Prosperity, Interest, Wages and Depreciation, representing a mutual obligation.

When Capital and Labor fall out, the children go hungry. Capital wants Interest, Labor wants Wages, both want Prosperity and neither wants Depreciation. Yet separation will not meet the problem: For all are dependent on the same dollar which marks the basis of all material values.

The question then becomes one of how to stretch the dollar to satisfy the demands of all four children?

The overall viewpoint coupled with a spirit of understanding, conciliation and compromise would seem to offer a common ground from which to work.

It would appear to be the people's good dollar that's at stake!

HUNTING SEASON ECHOES

During the past few weeks the press has contained many reports of hunting mishaps. A number of men have been accidentally killed and farmers have lost stock ranging from poultry to horses and cows. The loss of life and the damage to property are nearly always brought to public attention as an inquest is held, when a hunter is killed and the farmer is seldom reticent about the loss of his livestock. However, little publicity is given to the fate of the many animals that are wounded by hunters and wander off into the bush to suffer an agonizing and lingering death.

Many people recently were disturbed by a newspaper account of the shooting of a black bear with two cubs and several letters appeared in the press denouncing this wholesale slaughter. The hunter concerned also published a letter stating that the government pays a bounty for the killing of black bears and cubs and took to task "those who see fit to find fault without knowing the facts." It would be interesting to know if this hunter has collected his bounty—our information is that the provincial government does not pay a bounty for black bears as these animals are not listed as predators.

It is now apparent to most people that a more stringent control of hunting is necessary to safeguard life, minimize damage, and prevent suffering to the animals.

JAMES BARR,
President, Victoria Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

COMMUNITY CHEST

It is a terrible thing and amazing, too—the obvious failure of the citizens of the Victoria areas to support the Community Chest according to their ability so far.

During the eight years of the Community Chest's existence, it has proved itself unquestionably the soundest and most economical means of financing voluntarily supported (completely or in part) vital welfare organizations. Granted costs of living have risen—but the national income is three and a half times greater than in 1939. Many who realize the C. C. is indeed worthwhile keeping on have given a bigger donation this year, because a larger amount is needed; but a great many more who have given up to this year have not given at all.

By the way, it is well known, or should be, that donors can earmark the organization or move they wish to support, as the list this year is on the donation envelope. But this has always been so.

I am wondering if a lottery were organized for the C. C. and good prizes of money and goods offered, how many people too poor to give would find they could afford to buy not only one, but several tickets.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

THE Council of Big Four Foreign Ministers, due to meet in London this month to frame a long-overdue German treaty, will give us what may be the final clue we need to determine whether there is any possibility of collaboration between the Russian bloc and the democracies.

The disposition of Germany's tangled affairs is the crux of continental Europe's political and economic rehabilitation. If the Big Four Ministers—Marshall of the United States, Bidault of France, Bevin of Britain and Molotov of Russia—can't agree on a pact now, then prospect of further collaboration on any line is thin indeed.

Here it may be said that the cup-of-hope for success in the London parley isn't overflowing in any circle.

Apocryph of this situation the United States has made a new foreign policy statement accusing Russia of failing to co-operate in efforts to establish peace. The document blames the Soviet Union for failure of the United Nations "to grasp the fruits of peace and victory." It says the Russians have failed to make good on wartime commitments for demilitarization and reconstruction of Germany, and are mainly interested in getting maximum reparations from Germany and in setting up a German political regime friendly to the Soviet Union.

U.S. STATEMENT

"The United States," says the policy statement, "desires that Germany shall occupy a position among the powers which would give her freedom to co-operate in a broad program of European economic construction rather than to be linked economically and politically with any orbit. The impasse between the great powers in this matter has resulted temporarily at least in the virtual partition of Germany. The situation in Austria is somewhat similar."

The Russian answer to all this is that the United States and Britain are attempting to use Germany as a pawn in imperialistic schemes.

Well, if the Foreign Ministers' Council is unable to agree on a peace treaty, what then? We may find one answer to that in a statement by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor in Germany. He declares it absolutely essential that as large a part of Germany as possible be politically and economically integrated at an early date, adding: "Many millions of people cannot be kept without a government of their own forever."

We interpret this as meaning that if the Russians won't collaborate in politico-economic rehabilitation, then the other Allies—the United States, Britain and France—should integrate their three zones as best possible. And quickly.

PARTIAL INTEGRATION

Barring the conclusion of a peace treaty for all Germany there is, of course, virtually no hope that Russia would agree to politico-economic integration of the whole Reich. However, that needn't prevent a development of the other three zones, although France is anxious not to permit any economic rehabilitation which would create another German war potential.

For that matter all the Allies are agreed that Germany never again shall be permitted to become a military power. Militarism and Nazism can be eliminated, however, without keeping the German people handcuffed.

HELP TO HUSBANDS

Reader's Digest
Directly over the letter slots in the Hastings, Neb. post office are cards with: "Have you mailed your wife's letter?"

STILL THEY STICK

Ottawa Journal
Granted that men in public life in this country get more verbal kicks than halfpenny-worth of thanks; isn't it strange that so many cling to public office like the vine to the gnarled oak? Opponents and constituents may revile them, call them Reds or Fascists as the occasion demands, accuse them of extravagance, shortsightedness, neglect, opportunism, dictatorial practices, appeasement or spinelessness, but comes an election their hats are right back in the ring and their names on the ballot-paper.

But there are compensations. Otherwise, Mr. Mackenzie King wouldn't be overtaking Walpole in length of term as Prime Minister nor would Ottawa's Stanley Lewis be extending his record for holding office longer than any previous mayor of the city.

College President, Doctor and Lawyer Confessed Drug Users

How do you become a drug addict? Here is the story of a prominent businessman who owned a large department store. His wife developed a painful and lingering illness for which the doctor gave her morphine. At the same time he had a lot of business worries. That, combined with the worry about his wife, put him in a miserable state. He couldn't sleep and had bad indigestion. One day his wife offered him an injection of her morphine to make him feel better. He took one and it seemed to lift his spirits considerably. A day or so later he tried another. Soon he discovered he couldn't stop the injections. He tried everything without success; paid thousands of dollars for fake cures.

Among the drug-addict prisoners at Lexington jail are doctors, lawyers, a college president, merchants and others who could not be classed as criminals. They had broken the narcotic laws in their desperate need for drugs, but were otherwise normal, law-abiding people. They had become addicted through ignorant, misguided or unavoidable medication, either professionally or self-administered, while suffering from physical illness or profound emotional disturbances.

What cure is there for drug addicts? One noted author says, "I've learned that the drug addicts today have about as much chance of being cured as the insane had a hundred years ago."

Read the startling facts now given about the drug addicts in the article entitled "Skid Row" in the November edition of Cosmopolitan Magazine, now on sale at your magazine dealers.

R. F. Blandy, Oak Bay Clerk, To Retire

Reeve Walter Walker of Oak Bay announced Tuesday evening that R. F. Blandy, clerk and treasurer of the municipal council, will retire Dec. 31 after more than 25 years' service in his present capacity.

Although retiring as clerk and treasurer, Mr. Blandy will be retained as assessor for the municipality. Reeve Walker said the municipal clerk had tendered his resignation as he had now reached the superannuation age of 65. The resignation was accepted by the council with regret, the reeve said.

Succeeding Mr. Blandy as clerk and treasurer will be A. D. Finlay, assistant clerk.

In paying tribute to Mr. Blandy and to his services in Oak Bay, Reeve Walker said: "No man, over a period of more than a quarter-century, has given more unselfish service or shown more devotion to duty than Mr. Blandy."

1,000 Specialists Train At Naden

Warrant Engineer F. Shea, R.C.N., of Victoria, left, watches as ERA 1st Class Gordon Hewitt of Bowsman, Man., demonstrates the skill and precision required in the manufacture of a new lathe part.

Precision, industry and hard work are the passwords at the mechanical training establishment at H.M.C.S. Naden, which, under the direction of Cmdr. (E) D. K. Miller, O.B.E., R.C.N. (R), of Victoria, has turned out nearly 1,000 highly skilled men since it was organized for postwar training Feb. 28, 1946.

Here, an efficient instructional staff gives engineering courses ranging from the most elementary phases to the advanced mechanics of the profession. From the breadth of Canada, new entries are learning their trade even before they tread the gratings of a modern ship's engine room.

Not all the training is devoted to new recruits; men with years of sea service are constantly brought in for refresher courses, and advanced training. The record is impressive. Over 100 air mechanics and air artificers of the R.C.N. have taken courses; 800 stokers and leading stokers have readied themselves for advancement, and 30 stokers have qualified for promotion to engine room artificers.

In addition, large numbers of University Naval Training Division and reserve members have taken from two weeks to three months' training during the summer.

The establishment itself is large, and the workshop is equipped with the latest gear and machinery. The rows of milling machines, the lathes, the grinders and shapers, and the furnaces and power hammers bear active witness to the "job of work" the M.T.E. is doing in the Canadian navy.

Oak Bay Municipal Employees Organize

The B.C. Labor Relations Board Tuesday evening advised Oak Bay council an application had been made by the Oak Bay Municipal Employees' Association for certification as bargaining authority for municipal employees as inside staff.

The council ordered a letter sent the L.R.B. saying it did not wish to contest the application.

At the same time the council approved holding a meeting to receive officials of the association to discuss the resolution by the Union of B.C. Municipalities endorsing increased superannuation allowances.

R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk, was also instructed to discover what action other municipalities were taking with regard to the U.B.C.M. endorsement.

The council was advised by the provincial deputy finance minister that Oak Bay is to receive a revenue surplus of $5,785 under the Revenue-Surplus Appropriation Act, 1947, and Mr. Blandy was instructed to prepare a report on how the money is to be expended within the municipality.

A letter was received from Public Works Minister E. C. Carson saying the government had no objection to removal, by Oak Bay, of tracks abandoned by the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. in the municipality. It would be in order for Oak Bay to dispose of the rails in any way thought fit without accounting to the Crown for the value of them, he wrote.

Director-General Of Army Only 42

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of Col. W. L. Coke, O.B.E., of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, as director-general of medical services for the Canadian army and his promotion to the rank of brigadier, was announced by Defence Minister Claxton.

Brig. Coke is 42, a native of Watford, Ont., and prior to the war served as medical officer in Winnipeg and as district medical officer at Regina.

After the outbreak of the war he served with the 10th Canadian Field Ambulance in Canada and the United Kingdom and as commanding officer of the 24th Canadian Field Ambulance unit in Italy he was wounded in January, 1944.

He was promoted colonel in 1944 and appointed as assistant director of medical service, 1st Canadian Division, serving in Italy and northwest Europe until the end of the war.

Student Artists Show At French Exhibition

One of four Victoria High School students who have had paintings accepted to hang in the permanent exhibition of children's art at Luxembourg Palace, Paris, France, Frank Lewis is shown at his easel. He is the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lewis, 497 Head Street, and is a student at Esquimalt High School. He is now finishing a portrait of his mother, and the picture accepted for the French exhibition was a portrait of his 16-year-old brother. His father is a commercial artist.

Fifteen-year-old Donald Michael, grade 10 student at Mount View High School in Saanich, goes in for more modernistic type of art. His oil, which is now hanging in Luxembourg, is of two fighters. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Michael, 1141 Palm Street, and received his art training at the Saturday morning art classes at Central Junior High School under A. W. Johns. He hopes to continue his art work.

Another 15-year-old artist is Morton Graham, who is now in grade 10 at Victoria High School. He is the son of Mrs. D. Graham, 921 Jasmine Avenue. Here Morton is working on a design in art class at the school. His painting, which was accepted, was an oil of "Fort Nanaimo."

Only girl to have her painting accepted from the 18 submitted by Mr. Johns from Victoria students was 14-year-old Shirley Cave. It is an imaginative work entitled "Two Refugees." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cave, 577 Hampshire Road, and took her art training at Saturday morning art classes last year.

Mrs. Yuen Found Unfit To Stand Trial For Murder

Mrs. Elizabeth Yuen, charged with the murder of her infant twins last November, was ordered returned to Essondale Mental Hospital Tuesday after an Assize Court jury found the accused mentally unfit to stand trial.

The widow was escorted into the court late yesterday afternoon to hear a jury decide whether or not she was capable of standing trial on a charge of murder. She smiled when she entered the court, but for the rest of the proceedings showed no signs of emotion.

Dr. J. C. McKay, Vancouver psychiatrist, and Dr. Arthur M. Gee, deputy medical superintendent of the Provincial Mental Hospital at Essondale, both testified that following months of observation they had come to the conclusion that the accused was not fit to stand trial.

The 12-man jury took five minutes to come to a verdict. Mr. Justice A. M. Manson ordered the woman returned to the mental hospital and "there kept in custody until the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor shall be known."

Mrs. Yuen was charged with murder after her two dead children were found with their throats slashed in their home at 1922 Blanshard Street. The accused was found in the room with her wrists cut.

Church Vestry Scene Of Wedding

At a quiet wedding ceremony in the vestry of the Church of Our Lord, Monday evening, Thelma Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Minto, 2639 Tillcum Road, became the bride of Joseph Politano, son of Mr. D. Politano, 2544 Shakespeare Street. Rev. Donald Gordon officiated at the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a tailored suit of Burgundy wine shade, with smoke white accessories and gardenias in corsage. Mrs. Adrienne Born was matron of honor for her sister, wearing a grey-blue tailored suit, with winter white and brown accessories. The second attendant was Mrs. Viola Howard, in a navy blue tailored suit with grey pin stripe and grey accessories. Corsage bouquets for both attendants consisted of gardenias and rosebuds.

dants consisted of gardenias and rosebuds.

Frank Politano, brother of the groom, was best man.

At a reception held at the home of the groom's father, guests were received by Mrs. Minto, assisted by Mrs. P. Politano, aunt of the groom, and a toast to the bride was proposed by Frank Politano. The three-tier wedding cake was the gift of the bride's brother-in-law, Adrienne Born.

After a wedding trip to Seattle and Olympia, Washington, for which the bride donned a finger-length leopard skin coat over her wedding ensemble, Mr. and Mrs. Politano will reside at 2544 Shakespeare Street.

Double-Ring Rites For Week-end Bride

At a double-ring ceremony in the manse of Fairfield United Church Saturday evening, Rev. W. Allan joined in marriage Joyce Patricia Exton, daughter of Mrs. W. H. Straff, 4001 Carey Road, and the late Mr. Edward Exton, and AB. Charles Leroy Moore, of H.M.C.S. Crescent, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Moore, Athabasca, Alberta.

The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. W. H. Straff, and was attired in a street-length dress of autumn green, with feathered Juliet cap, matching veil, and corsage bouquet of pink and white carnations. Her pink veil was fastened to a velvet coronet, and her corsage bouquet consisted of pink carnations, roses and white carnations on white lace backing.

The attendant was her sister, Mrs. Lillian Chalmers, in a street-length dress of autumn green, with feathered Juliet cap, matching veil, and corsage bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Edward Exton, brother of the bride, was best man.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Cecil Heaton, and Mrs. Ann Jones sang "Always" and "I Love You Truly."

During the reception at the Strathcona Hotel, a toast to the bride was proposed by C. Quest, and telegrams read by the best man. The lace-covered table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked with vases of pink carnations, white chrysanthemums, and lighted candles.

On leaving for a honeymoon on Vancouver Island and the mainland, the bride wore a green suit with dark brown accessories and winter-white topcoat.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore will reside in Victoria.

Reception Follows Symphony Concert

Mrs. A. C. Burdick, a member of the symphony executive, was hostess at an informal reception at her home "Rappahannock," on Rockland Avenue, following the concert last evening.

Mrs. Curtis Sampson was a dinner hostess Tuesday evening at her Newport Avenue home prior to the symphony concert. Her guests were Mrs. T. A. Rickard, Miss Irene Ross and Mrs. Harry Briggs.

Mrs. E. M. Pretty is a visitor from Vancouver, the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Hanbury, Beach Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Holmgren and their daughters, Delphi and Angela, left their former home at Langford Lake last Monday to live in Vancouver.

Dr. and Mrs. Jay Durand, who came from Seattle for the symphony concert, have been staying at the Empress Hotel. Mrs. Durand, known to the capital city as Gertrude Huntly Green was guest soloist at the concert.

concert last evening, to honor Mr. Melvin Knudsen, conductor of the orchestra and Gertrude Huntly Green, who had been guest soloist.

Miss Jean Plaunt, 305 Denison Road, and her house guest, Miss Sheila O'Reilly of Sudbury, Ont., left last night for Vancouver, where they will be guests at the Hotel Georgia for the next week.

Out-of-town guests at the Moore-Exton wedding Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. R. DeVore and Miss L. Starrie, from Port Alberni, and Lt. H. Lawrence and Lt. Jones of H.M.C.S. Crescent.

Mr. R. Keith Duncan entertained at an informal party Monday evening at his home, 155 Clarence Street in honor of Miss Gene Talbot, on the occasion of her 18th birthday. Miss Talbot is planning to spend the winter in Victoria.

A civic luncheon was given Tuesday at Terry's restaurant, honoring delegates to the South Vancouver Island District Women's Institute Conference, in session in Victoria. Mrs. E. Glover, president of the district board, acted as hostess. There were 65 guests.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding of Miss Thelma Minto to Mr. Joseph Pollano Monday night were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Palermo, Mrs. Lucy Palermo and Mrs. Dorothy Palermo, all of Olympia, Washington.

Mrs. W. E. Cook, 1280 Union Avenue, entertained at a troupeau tea at her home Sunday afternoon, in honor of her daughter, Miss Peggy Cook, whose marriage to Mr. G. E. Reeves of Seattle, will take place Saturday afternoon. The hostess presided at the tea table which was covered with an ecru-lace cloth and centred with a bowl of pink snapdragons and carnations, lighted by pink tapers. Miss Elizabeth Harrison assisted in serving.

Solarium Jr. League—Plans were made for a carnival to be held on Nov. 27 at the Crystal Garden, when members of the Solarium Junior League met in the Douglas Hotel on Monday evening. Miss Peggy Wharton presided and Mrs. Margaret Drinkwater, convener of carnival arrangements announced there would be games, door prizes and dancing, both modern and old time. A sum of $97 was realized from sale of matches in October it was reported by Mrs. Noel Morgan and Mrs. W. Fraser, convener of the pantomime committee said plans were well advanced. This year's pantomime, "Babes in the Woods" is under direction of Reginald Hines and will be produced by Warren Martin. The annual Snowball Frolic is set for December 26 at the Empress Hotel under convener'ship of Mrs. Graham Harris.

Furs And Formal Attire Seen

Stanch supporters of the symphony, Mrs. Gordon Kenning, left, and Mrs. C. S. Henley were in the first-night audience.

Formal evening gowns, the classic dinner gown, long gloves, bright flowers and luxurious furs were seen in the large crowd attending the opening concert of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra at the Royal Theatre last night.

The guest artist, Gertrude Huntly Green, outstanding Canadian pianist and one of Victoria's best-loved musicians, was gowning in ivory brocade-satin, featuring back fullness falling into a slight train. Folds of satin covered the upper arm with three strands of corded straps over the shoulders. Red French velvet and satin roses were the only touch of color highlighted rhinestone hair combs and a diamond necklace as accessories.

Others noted in the smartly-gowned audience were:

Mrs. Charles A. Banks, in black satin, with pearls and an ermine wrap.
Mrs. Hobart Molson, in silver lame with fur cape.
Mrs. A. C. Burdick, in black with silver sequin trim.
Miss Sara Spencer, in black crepe, styled with the new draped skirt and with deep yoke of fine pleated net. A brilliant pin was the only ornament. With this was worn a black seal coat.
Mrs. Jack Barraclough, black satin gown, high necked, with three-strand necklace of pearls, and grey Russian kid jacket.
Mrs. H. U. Knight, pale grey informal evening gown in the new length, with Russian squirrel cape.
Mrs. J. D. Munro, fuchsia crepe, with gold accessories front, gold belt and brown squirrel coat.
Mrs. W. F. Munro, black dinner dress with black velvet evening cloak.
Mrs. A. J. Tullis, long black dinner dress, worn with tomato colored dinner jacket trimmed with gold sequins and brown fur wrap.

Rural Tax Discussed At Institute Meet

A resolution presented by Cedar Women's Institute and passed at the opening session of South Vancouver Island District Women's Institute conference, held yesterday in the K. of P. Hall, urged the Department of Education to work for equalization of the school tax between city and country, as in its present form it is unfair to the peoples in rural districts.

Mrs. E. Glover, president of the district board, presided and Alderman Ed Williams, acting for Mayor Percy E. George, brought greetings from the city. Rev. A. E. Whitehouse led the prayer period.

Committee conveners were named as follows: Resolutions, Mrs. W. S. Webster, Lake Hill W.I.; nominations, Mrs. A. Spiers, Esquimalt W.I.; courtesy, Miss M. L. A. Savory, Langford W.I.

Institute reports were heard and an address given by Mrs. A. S. Dennis, president, Provincial Board of British Columbia Women's Institutes, who spoke on the federal meeting of institutes in Canada, held in Halifax in the summer.

The new national theme, Mrs. Dennis said, is "Forward Looking," with special emphasis on education for citizenship. Women's Institute programs will include increased plans for training youth, she said, both in the home field and in the larger world.

Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, provincial convener of crafts and industries, spoke to the gathering, explaining work of handicrafts in the province.

Different types of crafts were discussed and Mrs. McLachlan told her audience weaving was the most popular with embroidery and knitting holding last place in woman's favor. Displays of rugs were shown.

During the afternoon, institute reports were heard, followed by a visit to Arnold's Bakeries. Sessions continue today.

Burnside—Members of Burnside P.T.A. met in the auditorium on Monday and plans were made for three more sewing meetings before the bazaar, the first on Thursday at the home of Mrs. F. M. Smith, 3163 Gamma Street, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. R. McCorkandale, bazaar convener announced that all sewing must be in by Nov. 14. A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. B. Flintoff who held a successful shower for the bazaar, also to Mrs. J. A. Stevenson and Mr. and Mrs. D. G. McDonald who acted as judges at the costume parade at the Jallowen party, when prizes were awarded and children treated to ice cream and hot dogs. Pre-school children received chocolate bars and refreshments were served to parents and friends. Celebrating their 11th birthday, members of Burnside P.T.A. cut a birthday cake, made, decorated and donated by Mrs. F. M. Smith.

Mrs. W. C. Wells, wine-red crepe, with brilliant clips and black seal coat.
Mrs. W. W. McGill, rose pink crepe dinner dress with Hudson seal coat.
Mrs. Lugin-Fahey, in ivory white gown, styled in the new draped line.
Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown, magenta crepe, with pearls, and white fur cape.
Mrs. Homer-Dixon, brocade gold lame with threaded all-over pattern in mosaic colors and black seal evening coat.

Victoria Stagette Club Observes National Stagette Week

To raise funds for their main project, Child Welfare, the Victoria Stagettes will mark National Stagette Week by holding a Bazaar at the Robert House.
The local club was formed in 1942 with a membership of nine and since that time has increased to 25 members, some of whom appear in the picture above. So far most of the money raised by the Stagettes has been used to decorate the Children's Rooms at the B.C. Protestant Orphanage. At Christmas time club members prepare gifts for each child at the home. During the war, in addition to this work, bundles of clothing and materials were sent to Maidstone Street School, London, England.

The bazaar will be held on Saturday, November 29. There will be fine displays of knitted garments, linens, woodwork and home cooking. Tea will be served during the afternoon.

Advocates School For Bus Drivers

Drivers of sightseeing buses and taxi cabs in Victoria and the line some of those boys string," came under fire from Walter Miles, vice-president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting Tuesday of the chamber's tourist trade group.

"I have ridden on some of the sightseeing buses just for the fun of it and I think it is terrible that some of the drivers should tell such cock and bull stories to our visitors," he said.

Noting that the drivers were often called upon to answer most unusual questions, Mr. Miles said they should try to give straight answer rather than try "a leg pull."

He suggested that a school be established where drivers could be taught something about the city and the island so they could give proper answers to the questions asked them. The school could operate in the off-season just before the heavy tourist rush started, it was pointed out.

He noted the school might teach the drivers to boost up island attractions so as to give tourists a desire to stay on the island longer.

House, Furniture, Car On Auction Block

A. R. Roberts, partner in the firm of Maynard & Sons, opens bidding on the auction of a house at 3043 Jackson Street. It sold for $14,900.

Following the sale of the house, the furnishings were auctioned, piece by piece by A. J. Maynard, with a total of $4,000 realized.

At the same auction a 1938 Packard was sold for $1,150. The house, furnishings and car were the property of A. White who is leaving the city for the interior owing to ill health. Bidding on the house opened at $8,000.

The four-hour auction drew 300 people and cars were lined up for three blocks.

Gallup Poll

Canadians Like English Tenacity, Dislike Their High-Handedness

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

While, as reported last week, your average Canadian thinks of Americans as friendly, sociable people whose chief fault is a tendency to brag, this same average Canadian thinks of English people as courageous, independent, hardworking and trustworthy people whose greatest fault is a tendency to be high-handed, insolent and overbearing.

Following up its last week's study of Canadian attitudes towards Americans, the institute asked a similar set of questions about English people, the first one being:

"Would you say you know personally many English people, just a few, or none at all?"

Canadians know personally just about as many English people as American people. The figure for those who know no English was 17 per cent of the adult population, while those who know no Americans was 16 per cent. English people are known best to Canadians in British Columbia, the prairies and Ontario, and to Canadians in the upper income group. They are least known to Quebec residents, and Canadians in the middle and lower income groups, the poll shows.

The poll then asked:

"What do you like best about the English people as a nation?"

"What do you like least about them?"

As with Americans, Canadian people seem to find it easier to think of things they like about the English than of things they dislike. Of the total adult population, 42 per cent could not think of anything they liked most about English people and 54 per cent could not think of anything they disliked most.

Here, in order of mention, are the good and the bad points about the English people as a nation, as seen through Canadian eyes:

Most likeable characteristics—Independent, hardworking, determined, courageous, 28%; honest, trustworthy, 16%; cultured, 6%; friendly, cheerful, witty, 5%; loyal to King, to their tradition, 3%; other likeable points, 5%; don't know of any, 42%.

Most dislikeable characteristics—High-handed, insolent, overbearing, snobbish, "know-it-alls," 20%; smug, old-fashioned, not progressive, muddlers, 7%; too reserved, too dignified, 5%; stubborn, 3%; their class distinction, 3%; too possessive re colonies, dominions, 3%; other dislikeable points, 5%; don't know of any, 54%.

The first column adds up to more than 100 per cent because some people cited more than one "most likeable" point.

Coat Of Arms Fixed For Mountbatten

LONDON (AP)—Lieut. Philip Mountbatten's coat of arms, incorporating the arms of Greece and Denmark and heraldic devices of his family, was complete today, but it gave no clue to the title the King will confer on him as Princess Elizabeth's future consort.

Philip's rank and formal status in the royal circle after his marriage to the heiress presumptive may not be announced until the wedding day, Nov. 20.

A dukedom at least is considered a virtual certainty. Highly-placed but unofficial quarters have suggested the King may be obliged to make Mountbatten a British prince, as was Albert by Victoria, in order that his children may have royal rank.

The King also will have the final word concerning Philip's future service with the Royal Navy. It is likely, however, that his sea-roving days are over.

His love of the navy is expressed in his coat of arms by a shield-supporting figure of the lion of England wearing a naval crown. A second supporting figure is Hercules, representing Greece. Smaller shields on a larger shield represent the arms of Greece, of Denmark and of Princess Alice, his grandmother. A crest with five ostrich feathers reproduces the Mountbatten arms. The motto is "God is my help."

Kiwanis Presents $100 Scholarship

J. B. Clearihue, K.C., left, presents Alan R. P. Paterson of Victoria College with $100 Kiwanis scholarship as Dr. J. M. Ewing, principal of the college, looks on.

Oldest scholarship at Victoria College, that of the Kiwanis Club of Victoria for $100, was presented for the 27th year at a luncheon in Empire Hotel Tuesday to Alan R. P. Paterson, R.C.A.F. veteran, for his work as a second year student.

J. B. Clearihue, K.C., chairman of the board of governors of Victoria College and also of the Kiwanis "education" committee, made the presentation.

"The first class of Victoria College in 1903 had seven students, who took classes at Victoria High School," Mr. Clearihue told Kiwanians in introducing Mr. Paterson. "Today there are 470 students."

"The Kiwanis scholarship has been awarded 26 times and every student who won it has done well."

Mr. Paterson, a native of Nanaimo and son of J. M. Paterson, formerly inspector of schools in Saanich, went overseas in the R.C.A.F. in 1943. He was discharged in 1946 with the rank of flying officer. He is studying bio-chemistry.

"Your organization has very generously given this scholarship, the oldest at Victoria College," said Mr. Paterson, expressing his appreciation.

The fact that so many of its former winners had achieved success had enhanced the value of the award every year of its existence, he told the group.

Dr. J. M. Ewing, principal of Victoria College, spoke briefly, telling Kiwanians that the College now had a first-rate building with ample accommodation and good grounds. He stated that 50 courses were now being given, compared with 30 courses three years ago.

"We are giving as broad a choice in courses at the first two years at the College as is given at the U.B.C.," he said. "In addition, we have some of the finest laboratories in the country."

He spoke of the college library which is being built up and said the college needed good playing facilities. When it obtained a regular playing field, a gymnasium would be necessary, he said.

"Our common aim is community service," he said of Victoria College and the Kiwanis Club.

Ralph Matthews presided.

Labor Congress Formally Asks Action To Curb Rising Prices

OTTAWA (CP)—On the heels of an announcement that the Canadian cost-of-living index had jumped another 2.8 points to 142.2, the Canadian Congress of Labor today formally requested the government to take action at the forthcoming session of Parliament to curb rising prices through a policy of price control.

In announcing the September jump of 2.8 points in the cost-of-living index Tuesday, the Bureau of Statistics attributed the increase to the government's decontrol program, particularly steps taken in September which narrowed the field of items still under price ceilings to a handful of essentials such as rents, fats and oils.

LETTER TO ST. LAURENT

Today the Canadian Congress of Labor released the text of a letter sent to acting Prime Minister St. Laurent over the signature of Secretary-Treasurer Pat Conroy.

It said labor had "no desire to continuously chase high prices of commodities since labor believes its function should be confined to securing appropriate value for its services so that the Canadian economy can be stabilized for a maximum purchasing power in relation to value produced."

"If, however, prices continue to rise as they have been doing, it is obvious that labor's function to secure full social value of its product will be supplemented by an effort to catch up on high prices and which will equalize the value of the dollar that labor should have in its pockets."

Pointing out that the C.C.L., at its recent annual convention, had adopted a resolution asking a special session of Parliament to deal with prices, the letter continued:

"Consequently, we believe it would be in the interests of the country at large if during the special session of Parliament commencing Dec. 5, the government would initiate a policy of price control."

MAY GO TO 1945

Disclosure of the newest jump in the cost-of-living index to 142.2—on the basis that 1935-39 equals 100—recalled a recent statement by Finance Minister

Abbott that it might go as high as 145 points.

In discussing the cost of living on his return from the United Kingdom last month, the Finance Minister said Canada could not insulate her economy entirely from price developments beyond her borders. He expected the cost-of-living index to settle somewhere between 140 and 145 points and said if it remained around that position he would consider the situation "pretty good."

Did You Pay Income Tax For 1942?

If so, read this carefully!

The Government of Canada will repay the REFUNDABLE SAVINGS PORTION of 1942 Income Tax by March 31st, 1948. If you are one of those who have refundable savings a cheque will be mailed to you BUT—

Your correct present address is essential!

Correct addresses are available for most of those entitled to repayment, but a large number of taxpayers are constantly moving and others marry and their names change.

Cards on which to report changes of address or name are being sent to all householders in Canada. These are being distributed at the present time. Additional cards are available either at your district Income Tax office or your local Post Office. Do nothing if you live at the same address and have the same name as in 1942.

If you are entitled to Refundable Savings on 1942 Income Tax and you have changed your address or name

Crack Liner Carries 102,292 Passengers

In her first year of operation in the trans-Atlantic passenger service, the 83,673-ton liner Queen Elizabeth carried 102,292 passengers in 23 round trips, according to a report from Cunard White Star Ltd.

The world's largest liner averaged 2,224 passengers per crossing since her maiden voyage as a luxury liner a year ago, carrying 51,951 persons westbound and 50,341 eastbound.

The Elizabeth's 81,273-ton sister ship Queen Mary also has been carrying near capacity lists of passengers since she returned to peacetime service three months ago.

The DOCTOR Says:

OUR FEELINGS CAN MAKE US ILL

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.
Many people work so hard to improve their social condition that they fail to enjoy their existence. This causes stress and strain and may be one of the factors responsible for the increase in nervous diseases.

Jurgen Ruesch, M.D., and Karl M. Bowman, M.D., according to the Journal of the American Pharmaceutical Association, believe that in achieving betterment of income, position, power and/or property, a permanent adjustment to a new group becomes necessary. The average person who better himself feels lonely and at a loss to know what to do in his new position, as old techniques no longer apply.

Ulcers of the duodenum and stomach, and disturbances of the thyroid gland are more common in those who try to climb socially and to strain for a better position.

Foreign-born and second-generation Americans are said to have an unusually high incidence of ulcer and thyroid problems. The implication is that cultural changes and conflicts with different ideas is the source of the nervousness which backgrounds their illness.

Whenever one is blocked from doing something he would like to do, he becomes angry and tense, as his body is prepared for either fight or flight. The appearance of an angry individual shows marked changes, and it is necessary for them to "blow off steam," through work or play, to obtain relief. Those are poorly adjusted, and cannot get rid of their feelings in this way, continue to harbor them with the result that illness develops.

PATIENTS ARE PEOPLE

Patients are people, people, have problems, problems lead to anxiety, and anxiety can lead to symptoms which can mimic or produce the signs and symptoms of organic disease. Over half the patients who consult physicians do so directly or indirectly because of emotional conflicts.

All painful experiences are real. There isn't such a thing as imaginary pain, although the cause of the pain may vary and the treatment may be different in each case. Little can be accomplished by telling emotionally disturbed persons to "snap out of it."

with a bad complexion. I do not eat sweets. Do you think the acid in my blood could cause this, and should I stop eating tomatoes?

Answer: Various diets have been tried for acne, but a well-balanced diet, containing fruits and vegetables, is the usual recommendation. Tomatoes do not cause a bad complexion, although chocolate may.

Seattle Ironmen Bolster Lead In Coast Hockey

The Seattle Ironmen, victors over the Vancouver Canucks, 4 to 3 last night, held a fatter lead today in the northern division of the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

The Ironmen were never behind in the fastest game seen on Vancouver ice this year, but had to break three ties for their victory.

They took a 1 to 0 early lead only to lose it before the first period was over when Jack Bocksteel connected for Canucks.

Bill Robinson sent them ahead again within a minute after the start of the second session but Bill Carse evened the count again. Maurice Duffy made it 3 to 2 midway through the session only to have Bernie Rathgate tie it up again.

Dorohoy put the Seattleites ahead for keeps at the 13.32 mark in the third period for the victory.

Oakland-Oaks scored their third successive victory with a 5 to 4 win over the New Westminster Royals, at the Berkeley rink, in the season's first meeting between northern and southern division teams. The Royals tied the score twice, but Fred Gibbon tallied the Oaks' winning goal in the final frame.

The Los Angeles Monarchs defeated Fresno Falcons 3 to 2.

The foursome will tee off at 1.

Muddy Ruel Gets Gate As Manager Of St. Louis Club

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Herold (Muddy) Ruel was dismissed Tuesday as manager of the St. Louis Browns and Zach Taylor, former coach for the club, was signed to a one-year contract, William O. Dewitt, Browns general manager said.

Ruel's dismissal was made public earlier by club president Richard C. Muckerman who said directors of the club will buy up his contract for next year because they were dissatisfied with his work.

Ruel, who resigned as assistant to Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler to take over the Browns' post a year ago, became the second consecutive manager to be fired at the halfway point after contracting for a two-year term.

FORMER CATCHER

Taylor, 49, was a catcher with Brooklyn Dodgers when they were National League champions in 1920.

The 51-year-old Ruel took issue with a statement by Muckerman that although the club finished last this year, the material on hand was sufficient for a first division team. Ruel declared he was "stunned" by the action.

"Muckerman said he was disappointed in the showing of the club, and disappointed in my work. Well, I couldn't deny that the showing of the club disappointed all of us after we started the season in the cellar and trailed in that position throughout the American League race. I could not agree with the club owner on the second point—my own record.

"I tell him to a seventh-place team, and I feel certain that the material was not on hand to improve the Browns' position."

List Results Of Table Tennis Games

Play in the Victoria and District Table Tennis League continued this week, with Paddlers and MacDonald Electric rapping up convincing 21 to 15 decisions over Victoria Bottle Exchange and Pirates, respectively.

Other game saw Maple Leafs edge Aces, 19 to 17. Ed Ngai scored eight wins for Aces.

Individual scores follow:

Fine Prospects Among Baseball Draft

Hard-Hitting Max West And Cliff Dapper Attract Much Interest

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1947 major league baseball draft, which gets under way Monday at the annual selection meeting in Cincinnati, promises to bring up a flock of hopefuls comparable to last year's "take" of 20 players which cost 11 big league club owners an aggregate sum of $184,000.

Although the majority of the 8,000 minor league players eligible for the draft are either grizzled veterans who have long ago outlived their usefulness in the big time or those who have been brought up before but found wanting, this year's crop contains some fine prospects, if they are to be judged by their past season performance.

Wandering through the list of players in the class AAA, AA and A players only, among the 69 pages of names sent out by Commissioner A. B. Chandler, no fewer than three league batting champions were found along with three home run kings, three pitching-leaders, a pair of runs-batted-in titleholders and three players chosen as the most valuable players of their respective leagues.

Among the most likely to get the call appears to be Cliff Dapper; Brooklyn-owned catcher who batted .291 and drove in 105 runs while working in 136 games for Mobile in the Southern Association. The 27-year-old receiver, who was voted the Dixie League's most valuable player in each of three separately conducted polls.

SMART RECORD

Another almost certain to attract attention is Max West, former Boston Brave and Cincinnati Red outfielder, who led the Pacific Coast League in home runs and runs batted in and was selected as the loop's most valuable player. West, 31, slammed 43 home runs for San Diego, the most any Coast League player has hit since 1935.

Another draft eligible who received the most valuable player award of his circuit was Steve Gerkin, 29-year-old relief pitcher of Minneapolis who was the Iron man of the American Association. Gerkin won 10 and lost two for the Millers, but that is only half the story. He appeared in 83 official games to shatter all existing records for pitchers. He also pitched in three games that were washed off the record by rain, took part in four out of seven playoff games and hurled 10 exhibition games to make it exactly 100 games that he pitched in.

The highest batting average belongs to Hillis Layne, Seattle third baseman, who paced the P.C.L. hitters with a mark of .367, four points higher than Heinz Becker's .363 which was good enough to top all American Association hitters.

LAST YEAR'S CROP

NEW YORK (AP) — Of the 20 players selected in the annual major league baseball draft last year, nine managed to stay up all season, although two were released following the close of the campaign.

Two others, Virgil Stallcup, drafted by the Cincinnati Reds and Cliff Mapes, bagged by the New York Yankees, were recalled after spending the 1947 season in the minors.

The best of the 1946 crop was Ferriss Fain, hustling first baseman whom the Philadelphia Athletics acquired from San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League for the AAA draft price of $10,000.

Saanich Anglers To Oppose License Plan

Delegates of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association who will attend the next meeting of the Vancouver Island Affiliated Fish and Game Association in Nanaimo late this month will strongly oppose any move to make it mandatory for all types of sport fishing—which includes saltwater anglers—to take out a license.

Harry Woolston, president, who will lead the V.S.I.A. delegates, made that statement today, noting that at a recent meeting of the board of directors the guild-group of the anglers' club turned a definite "thumbs down" on any such proposal.

This statement came following a meeting of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association last night when a majority voted in favor of supporting a Court-enay move to have a law brought in to force all fishermen, trout and salmon, to buy a license. This local organization is figuring on one license to cover both tidal and non-tidal fishing. At the present time there is no license required for salmon fishermen, but if the move was successful any angler carrying saltwater fishing tackle would be required to have a card showing he had contributed to the government coffers.

CUT TROUT SEASON

There was strong opposition to a proposal being brought up at the island meeting that the V.I. trout season be whittled down to six months instead of the present nine months. The motion to ask for this only carried by a mere three votes.

It was contended by some that March being a too-early month for good fishing and because October and November were spawning months, these three months should be eliminated, making the season April 1 to Oct. 1. The losing side, in the verbal duel, however, contended October was one of the best fishing months of the year.

The association will ask to have a daily bag limit of 15 grise and a five-fish daily limit on salmon throughout the year.

Other recommendations to the meeting of the affiliated passed by the meeting favor the present 12-day trout bag limit, that the use of salmon roe for trout fishing be left in the "illegal" bracket, and that Todd Creek be opened for fishing from the Dam to Prospect Lake.

A good portion of the meeting business period was devoted to the subject of hunting accidents. It was finally decided to hold a conference with Provincial Police and Game Department officials to consider the best means to eliminate the accident toll in the ranks of those who follow the game trails.

SPEAK ON ACCIDENT CAUSES

The meeting was unanimous in agreement that steps should be taken to rectify this ever-growing condition. There was a wide variety of opinions as to the cause of this. One delegate figured the shortage of game had made some hunters "trigger happy."

There were claims that use of firearms was not being properly taught. The practice of "shoot first and see what's been hit afterwards" was one of the big dangers.

A charge that not firearms, but "firewater"—liquor—was to blame for a good proportion of

United Soccer Team Signs Murray Speller

Murray Speller, hard-working halfback and forward of last year's Victoria United soccer team, has returned to the fold with the announcement today by club secretary Charlie Faulkner that Speller had signed with the Coast League eleven.

Faulkner also disclosed that Saturday's match here with Vancouver St. Saviours was a challenge affair with the winning eleven entitled to a larger percentage of the gate receipts.

United players will engage in two stiff practice sessions this week and manager Roy Barnes reports all his players in tip-top condition.

Interhigh Ruggers In Scoreless Draw

Holding the strong Vic High Greens to a scoreless draw, Oak Bay Whites distinguished themselves yesterday as the junior squad that will likely vie for first place honors with the two Vic High squads. Game was played at the Oak Bay field, and the home squad put on a fine display before their ardent supporters. In the other scheduled contest, the top-place Vic High Reds were awarded the game by default when Esquimalt found it impossible to field a team. Tomorrow's league game will bring together Esquimalt and Oak Bay Greens at the latter's home field.

Vic High Greens opened play after Bays bobbled the kickoff, and at the three-minute mark, Greens were awarded a penalty kick from right in front, but missed the opportunity to move ahead. Bobby Rowe got off to a nice run, but was tackled by Bay defenders in front of the line. Oak Bay found the Vic High weakness, and surprised with numerous attacks, penetrating deep into the end zone.

Greens were strong on the attack to open the second half, and their offensive led right to the Bays' line, but again they could not cross. After some mid-field play, Bays returned, ganging up on the Greens to hem them in their own zone. Ritchie Pollard made a good attempt to decide the game in the latter minutes, attempting a penalty shot from a difficult angle, but when the whistle sounded, teams walked off the field without a decision.

Painter-McColl In 19th Hole Victory

Vic Painter and Billy McColl, Colwood, retained the city golf buttons over the week-end, scoring a victory over challengers Eric Hiberson and Roy Stranix, Uplands, on the 19th hole.

Although the calibre of golf was not good, due mainly to the miserable weather, the match was close all the way with Hiberson and Stranix missing a great chance to win on the 18th.

Sunday Painter and McColl will again defend the buttons over their home course against John Smith and Mike Bartkow of the Gorge Vale club.

casualties, was voiced.

The opinion of Game Warden George Stevenson can be summed up as follows for his version of a great deal of the trouble: "Defective firearms... temperamental weakness of the hunter... and deliberate carelessness."

TORONTO MAPLE LEAFS are going to try one of the most interesting experiments attempted in the National Hockey League in years. They will seek to work centre Max Bentley into their line-up with strange wingers operating alongside the league scoring champion. For the first time since he joined Chicago Hawks five years ago Max will not have his brother patrolling left wing. The pair have built the reputation of super stars and their brother act has been compared to that of other famous brother combination of a few years ago, Bill and Bunny Cook of the New York Rangers.

COACH HAPPY DAY of the Leafs has already announced that Bentley will work on a line with Joe Klukay and Don Metz. Of course if Max fails to show to advantage with this pair he will be worked in with other front-line combinations in an effort to gain full benefit of his prolific scoring ability. There were no better exponents of speed and stickhandling ability than Max and his brother Doug and Bill Mosenko as the number one line of the Black Hawks. Stick-handlers par excellence, their passing was a treat to watch. They played a type of hockey that bewildered defencemen who, if they attempted to follow the trio, usually found themselves in a maze of skating that never seemed to slacken.

READING BETWEEN the lines it would appear the management of the Chicago Hawks have some doubt as to Doug Bentley's ability to continue his high-class performances without the aid of brother Max. Reports have it that Chicago management prepared to put Doug on the trading block as bait to pry loose a goaltender. It is just possible the Hawks will attempt to make a deal with New York Rangers for Sugar Jim Henry. Henry is rated of N.H.L. calibre but is forced to play in the minors with the Rangers having such a high-ranking net-minder in Chuck Raynor.

MAX BENTLEY'S record since he made the grade in big time hockey is worth mentioning at this time. No stranger to league all-star clubs Max last season joined the exalted company of Chuck Connacher, Dave Schirner, Howie Morenz and Babe Dye who have won the N.H.L. scoring title twice. In a nip and tuck struggle with Canadiens' Maurice Richard he won by a single point. Max won the Lady Byng trophy in 1943 for his clean and effective play, then produced his best hockey during the 1945-46 schedule to win his first scoring title and gain recognition as the most valuable player in the league, being awarded the Hart trophy.

Eyes Of Hockey World On Chicago Tonight

One question—and one question alone—held the attention today of National Hockey League fans—"How will Chicago Hawks shape up now they've added five new players?"

The full answer isn't likely to be given in one game, but there should be at least some indication tonight of whether Hawks benefited through trading Max Bentley and rookie Cy Thomas to Toronto Maple Leafs for five men.

The five—Gus Bodnar, Bud Poile, Gaye Stewart, Bob Goldham and Ernie Dickens—are expected to be in the Hawk line-up tonight against Boston Bruins.

The Chicago-Boston clash, to be played in the former city, is the only game scheduled.

Bodnar, Poile and Stewart, who may make up one complete line for Hawks, left Toronto for Chicago last night to join their new mates. Goldham and Dickens have been playing with Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League. Bodnar had only recently been recalled to Leafs from Hornets.

Bentley and Thomas were due to arrive in Toronto today and will turn out for a practice with Leafs. Managing director Conny Smythe of Leafs said he had not decided whether Thomas would be kept with Leafs or sent to Hornets.

Tentatively, Bentley will be placed at centre between Joe Klukay and Don Metz although there is talk that some time in the future the slender sniper from Delisle, Sask., might be put on a line with two promising Leaf rookies now with Hornets—Fleming Mackell and Les Costello.

Two games are scheduled for Thursday night, with Leafs in Montreal against Canadiens and Rangers in Detroit against Red Wings.

SOCCER PRACTICE

Eagles first division juvenile soccer squad will hold a practice at Macdonald Park tonight at 7. All players are asked to attend.

Canada Needs Rugged Ice Team For Olympics

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON (CP)—A pair of husky defencemen willing to smear any player who skates within hip distance and well-organized power plays with four and five men up should give Canada's R.C.A.F. Olympic team an advantage in the 1948 winter games. Make those defencemen big and tough, ready and willing.

This style of thumping body checks is almost alien to European teams. They are fast and tricky, especially in Switzerland, but a few well-timed, spine-smacking jolts should slow them down.

The power play also bewilders continental teams. At the Prague "world" and European championships last winter the United States club—by no means a star team—tried it a couple of times and had the Europeans skating in circles and gesticulating wildly. The Americans became just as confused and the play was broken up.

Canada's opposition in 1948, apart from the college crew of the United States, likely will come from Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Switzerland and Austria in that order. These clubs, all acclimatized to open-air rinks which will be used at St. Moritz, can't be sold short.

Czechoslovakia, coached by Mike Buckna, prewar Trail Smoke Eaters player, builds its attack on Zabrodski, high-scoring six-foot centre ice star whose free-skating style and tricky shifts are a delight to watch. But he can't take a body check.

After being tagged by an American defenceman early in a game at Prague, Zabrodski didn't stray within five strides of the defence for the rest of the contest and failed to get even an assist. He is acclaimed as the country's best player and ranking close to him is stocky Jaroslav Drobný, Czech Davis Cup tennis star and best all-round athlete in the country.

Sweden has a scrappy, crowd-pleasing club. The team lacks the finesse of the Czechs but makes up for this with its aggressiveness—minus the body-check.

SWISS TEAM FAST

Switzerland probably will have the lightest club in the tournament, and also the fastest. The forwards are "skating fools" though a bit of rough—but legitimate—handling will wear them down.

The dark horse is Austria, surprise winner over Sweden at Prague. Its players have been together since indulging in physical exercises throughout the summer and taking to the ice Sept. 1. The Austrian delegate to the International Ice Hockey Federation congress at Zurich in September, said in an interview only "we have a pretty good team."

Britain, 1936 champion, probably will be lucky to finish within the first four or five. Development of home-bred players was blocked out during the war and officials now are scouting England and Scotland for eligibles.

Referees at the games will be officials of the various hockey federations affiliated to the I.H.F. and it might be advisable if Canada's delegate explained to these that a body-check, however pad-crunching, can still be legitimate.

Herbert Ends Colorful Career On World Tracks

LONDON (CP)—Fred Herbert, one of the oldest active jockeys who has carried the colors of the Kaiser, counts, dukes and Indian princes, packed up recently, his 61st birthday, after 50 years in the saddle.

His anniversary was marred somewhat by his failure to boot home Turkhan Lass, a 100-to-6 shot at suburban Hurst Park.

Fred "wanted this one" but his finale was made in such select company as champion jockey Gordon Richards, Charlie Smirke, Sam Wragg and Michael Beary, and other topflight saddle artists. Turkhan Lass was an also ran in a 16-horse field.

One inch shy of five feet, Fred has had a colorful career. He ran away from home in Hamilton, Ont., when he was 9½ years old, rode the rods across the United States. The trip ended at Dallas, Texas, where a stern brakeman turned him over to a sheriff. That suited Fred because he was given the job of riding horses.

WON KENTUCKY DERBY

Since then he has kicked up the dust on tracks in 18 countries including Canada, won the Kentucky Derby on Donau in 1910 and the Cesarewitch of 1913 on Fliz Yama. There were rides in Moscow and St. Petersburg, in Brazil, the Argentine, Holland, Romania, Belgium, France, India and in Mexico and Cuba among "outlaw" jockeys who had rules of their own.

He has had 36 spills in his day, including broken ribs, a broken arm and a skull fracture but he still is a picture of health.

In his list of injuries he doesn't include the time he was a trapeze artist in a circus and had the bad luck not to be caught in midair. He fell through the safety belt and broke his arm. But as tight-rope walker in Berlin he never had a fall.

He hasn't decided yet what he will do in the future but it is likely that he will catch on with a stable.

Army-Navy Boxing Meet In December

Naval boxing shows, which have proved popular amongst city fans recently, will continue with a pair of top-rate cards scheduled before the close of the year. Major event is scheduled for Dec. 6 at the Armories, when an inter-service card between Army and Navy will be presented. Feature bout will bring together Golden Gloves holder Eddie Haddad and Bernie Lewis, army pugilist from Vancouver. Three army lads from Chilliwack will be listed among the remaining nine bouts.

Nov. 21 at the Naden gym will see the finals for new entries, and the local mitt slingers will participate in a card at Duncan, Nov. 15.

Legion Cagers Meet K.V.'s Tonight In Hoop Attraction

Senior A basketball is on the sports menu tonight, with Canadian Legion, last year's titlists, opening their 1947-48 schedule against K.V.'s, starting at 9. Other scheduled games will pit together Eagles and Brentwood Aces in a senior B encounter, with K.V.'s and Dominoes, junior boys' squads, tangling in the opener at 7.

Legionnaires have lost many of their players to other squads, and are not reputed to be as strong as the other two senior A squads, but club officials have promised that their squad will give K.V.'s a real battle for the honors tonight.

Coach Alex McKeachie has lined up his squad for the match, with Ian McKeachie, Leon Hall, Sonny Walker, Ralph Baker and Junior Fox of last year's crew on hand, and Dick Chunganes of local lacrosse fame listed as the newcomer.

SASKATOON WINS

SASKATOON (CP)—Skating fast, combining well and seizing every opportunity that came their way, Saskatoon Quakers Tuesday night upset Calgary Stampede 7 to 2 in a Western Canada Senior Hockey League game and ended a four-game Calgary winning streak.

The victory boosted the Quakers into a second-place tie with the Stampede. Each has eight points, two less than the leading Regina Capitals.

Interhigh Basketball

Play in the interhigh school senior basketball loop will continue tomorrow with four games on the card, a doubleheader at the Vic High gym will see Houses 2 and 3 meet in the opener at 3.30, and House 4 battling Mount Douglas an hour later.

Games elsewhere will see Vic High Ho use 1 journey to Oak Bay, and Esquimalt tackle the Mount View quintette at the latter's home court. Both games start at 3.45.

Bankhead Will Report To Brooklyn Camp

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Big Dan Bankhead, who found flash-in-the-pan prominence as the first negro major league pitcher, said today he has received orders to report back to Brooklyn Dodgers, "for spring training anyhow."

Bankhead joined the Dodgers last August after Brooklyn president Branch Rickey saw him pitch an American Negro League game here, but fared rather badly. The Dodgers asked waiver on him just before the world series.

None of the clubs bid for Bankhead—so he went into the series during one game—as a pinch base runner—and scored.

Bonds For Waterworks, Arena, Lighting To Be Sold By Dec. 1

Callings of tenders for the bonds of the city's street lighting, waterworks and Memorial Arena loans before the end of the month is recommended by Ald. Edward Williams, chairman of the finance committee, in a report submitted to Mayor Percy George Tuesday.

Ald. Williams and City Comptroller D. A. Macdonald have returned from a four-week trip to Eastern Canada where they interviewed bond dealers on the advisability of issuing bonds now or waiting for a more favorable market.

The street lighting by-law is for $108,000, the waterworks by-law for $108,000, and the Memorial Arena by-law for $150,000.

However, it is recommended by Ald. Williams that the school loan bonds be withheld from the market until it is determined by the bids on tenders, exactly how much money is required for each school.

Ald. Williams said that he and Mr. Macdonald called on nine bond dealers in Montreal and Toronto and the report is a summary of the opinions expressed by them.

Prices for municipal bonds have been going slowly down for two months he reported and in view of the large amount of municipal financing to be done across Canada there seems little likelihood that the market will improve.

The market is fairly cleaned of Victoria bonds at the present time, Ald. Williams said, and it was the unanimous opinion of all the bond dealers that nothing is to be gained by waiting and that the city should call for tenders for the bonds under the three by-laws as soon as possible, not later than Dec. 1.

Regarding the school by-law, it was felt there might be some difficulty in getting firm bids for the buildings within the estimated building cost, he said, which might necessitate a supplementary by-law.

As a result he recommended that not until firm bids had been received for the construction of the schools should the necessary bonds be placed on the market to produce the funds as required.

Until it is known what the total cost will be, financing could be done by borrowing from the bank, Ald. Williams explained, but on a market which appears to be more likely to weaken rather than strengthen, he recommended this course be not followed, but bonds be sold as exact costs are known and funds are required.

Prices for municipal bonds have been going slowly down for two months he reported and in view of the large amount of mu-

Technical School Plans Almost Ready

Plans and specifications for the $150,000 technical-vocational unit at Victoria High School are almost completed, J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools, announced today. Before tenders can be called for the building, final approval must be given by the Department of Public Works.

He said this would be the first of the $4,000,000 school building program to be started as construction must be under way by March 31, 1948, in order to qualify for the federal government vocational training grant.

Plans for the Topaz Avenue Junior High School, the Esquimal High School additions, Strawberry Vale School and View Royal School are also well under way, he reported.

Topaz Avenue Junior High School plans, which call for a $600,000 building, will probably be second completed, he said.

Loch Garth Officers Again Sail Peacetime Seas After War Duties

With nearly 100 years of sea time between them, the captain, chief officer and chief engineer of the Royal Mail Line steamship Loch Garth, which loaded at Ogden Point Tuesday have all had the dubious distinction of being sunk at sea by mine, torpedo or bomb.

Hardest hit was Chief Engineer J. W. Perren, who has been at sea since 1912 and served through both World War I and World War II. His ship, Nalon, was bombed and sunk off the coast of southern Ireland early in World War II.

Capt. H. G. Whittle, O.B.E., with 36 years sea time and service in both wars to his credit, was master of the Gascony, one of the first ships to be sunk by the acoustic mine. He won his O.B.E. for his war service but dismissed his war experience with "Oh, it was just the usual routine."

Chief Officer E. A. Littlewood, who has 25 years sea time, was aboard the Sarthe when she was torpedoed and sunk off Capetown, South Africa, in October, 1942.

With World War II service to his credit, he says that was quite enough. Both Capt. Whittle and Chief Officer Littlewood wear the unusual braid which distinguishes deck officers of the Royal Mail Line. Instead of the four rings, with the intertwined diamond, Major reason for this change is that cost of upkeep and repair of motorships is great and the time spent in port because of repairs is great, Capt. Whittle explained.

His own command is adequate proof that shipbuilders of the British Isles have not lost their touch, and, in fact, have done much to improve general conditions aboard ship.

Urges Island-Wide Publicity To Lengthen Tourists' Stay

Greater promotion of up-island tourist facilities by Victoria travel bureau and tourist information centres was urged by Geoffrey I. Edgelow in a luncheon address before the tourist trade group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at the Douglas Hotel Tuesday.

Speaking as chairman of the group, Mr. Edgelow, who has traveled extensively on Vancouver Island during the past year as publisher of Island Events, told the meeting he had found most boards of trade in upper-island centres with the feeling Victoria was trying to keep all tourists in the southern end of the island.

"I feel that now, more than ever before, is the time to offset this feeling and clear it once and for all," he said.

The speaker noted this year's summer months set a new record for tourist travel. Praising the work of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, he noted the bureau received 27,298 visitors from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30 and supplied them with information. Only 16,852 persons called at the bureau during the corresponding period last year, he said.

From April 1 to Sept. 30, the Victoria bureau accommodated 7,206 persons by finding room reservations for them.

SEE ALL OF THE ISLAND
"We should see that 90 per cent of the visitors who visit Victoria visit the rest of the island also," Mr. Edgelow continued.

"Once a tourist has come to Victoria we should not let him leave without seeing the rest of the island. There are a great many attractions in Victoria, but a visit to Vancouver Island is not complete until a tourist has covered the length and breadth of the island."

"It is easy to recommend up-island travel to our visiting friends as the roads are good and getting better. They will be in first-class condition next year."

Mr. Edgelow said he talked with many people who cater to the tourist industry up-island and had found them to be enthusiastic about the coming tourist year. Some of them said unfavorable publicity about the condition of the highways had affected this year's season. They suggested a campaign be featured next year to undo the harm done.

"We should feature a campaign to tell our visitors the worn by most merchant navy masters, Capt. Whittle has three stripes of gold braid which are sewn on in three large inverted "Vs" on the face of the sleeve. Chief Officer Littlewood wears two stripes instead of the usual three for the chief officer.

The custom, peculiar to the Royal Mail Line, dates back to 1839 when the company was first operated on a royal charter and commanded by Royal Navy officers who then wore that style of braid.

When merchant navy officers took over command of Royal Mail ships they clung to the old R.N. style braid. Asked if there was any thought of changing over to the more popular rank designation now used by the merchant navy, Capt. Whittle said no, Royal Mail officers were proud of the distinguished braid.

NEW SHIP POLICY

His command, the Loch Garth, which made her first call to Victoria and her second to this coast since she was launched at Belfast two years, marks a turn in Royal Mail ship policy. Previously, most company ships were motorships, but now the trend is toward steamships.

Major reason for this change is that cost of upkeep and repair of motorships is great and the time spent in port because of repairs is great, Capt. Whittle explained.

His own command is adequate proof that shipbuilders of the British Isles have not lost their touch, and, in fact, have done much to improve general conditions aboard ship.

Loch Garth is fitted to accommodate 12 passengers in modern, comfortable cabins. A beautifully paneled lounge, reading room and dining salon are also provided for the comfort of the passengers.

One of the most noteworthy features, however, is the crew accommodation. Old-style crowding of many seamen into one cabin is gone. Now, seamen sleep two to a cabin and they are provided with a recreation room as well. In addition, the pay, which before the war offered a pretty barren living, to say the least, has gone up to a fairly good level. Able-bodied seamen now earn £24 a month, more than double the amount paid before the war on many lines.

GET PICK OF CROP

This new wage and accommodation policy is showing its effect in the quality of seamen now secured. "We are able to get the pick of the crop these days," said Capt. Whittle.

To substantiate this was Chief Stewart S. Nicklin, who has been on the B.C. run, off and on since 1922, and still thinks it is one of the best in the world. The better conditions for seamen are keeping them at sea, he said.

Some have thought they could do as well shoreside and when they tried it, found it was not so. They soon came back to sea and are glad to be there, according to Chief Stewart Nicklin.

Loch Garth, registered at London, is a 10,000-ton vessel and can do 18 knots. She carries a crew of 70. She has an overall length of 500 feet and a beam of 66 feet.

Died Tuesday

Atwell Duncan Francis King, 70, of 543 Linden Avenue, former solicitor for the B.C. Electric Railway Co., passed away yesterday. A native of Montreal, Mr. King had been a resident of Victoria since 1876 and prior to retirement was associated with the B.C.E.R. for 33 years. He was a life member of the Mountaineering Club and for many years was connected with the rowing and boxing clubs in Vancouver. He was a member of the Victoria Golf Club and the Kiwanis Club. The funeral will be held Thursday, leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 2:45 for St. Matthias' Church, where the service will be conducted by Rev. K. L. Sandercock. Interment will be at Royal Oak.

British Rationing Saving Much Flour

LONDON (CP)—Food Minister Strachey said in the Commons today that deliveries of flour from mills in the 30 weeks ended Aug. 30 were 4,000 tons weekly under comparable figures for the 28 weeks prior to bread rationing, imposed in July, 1946.

This fall represented a saving of 4 per cent. Most of the saving was by householders. Flour is not allocated to bakers, who are left free to buy what they consider necessary to meet ration requirements of their customers.

Closing On Srinagar

NEW DELHI (AP)—An Indian Defence Ministry communique said tonight that Pathan Moslem invaders of the princely state of Kashmir were within 10 miles of Srinagar, the capital, after a fierce battle was fought in that area and "many casualties" inflicted by Indian troops.

(Reuters' news agency, in a dispatch from Srinagar, said that Indian troops inflicted 50 per cent casualties when they engaged a force of 700 Pathan Moslems near Badgam, less than 10 miles southwest of the Kashmir capital. The agency said the battle took place Monday night in the vicinity of an airfield.)

Red Cross Clinic Here On Thursday

The mobile blood clinic of the B.C. division, Canadian Red Cross Society, will make its regular monthly visit to this city Thursday, and will operate at the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion Hall on Blanshard Street, in the afternoon and evening. It was announced today by Donald H. Seymour, public relations officer for the Red Cross in Victoria.

"We hope that despite the transportation strike enough donors will attend the clinic so that 200 pints of blood can be sent to the blood bank from the Victoria visit," Mr. Seymour said.

Esquimalt Seeks Better Bus Route

Improved bus service when schedules are resumed, and street lighting was sought by Esquimalt residents in the district adjacent to Craigflower Road between Tillicum and Admirals Roads, in a petition received at Esquimalt council meeting Monday night.

The plebiscite regarding an amalgamated transportation system that went to the polls last summer had promised that an alternate bus route would be routed to Forshaw Road, the residents stated in their petition. They added that the new route for the Victoria West bus did not include service to Forshaw Road. They stated the requested service was necessary in view of the influx of residents recently.

When complaining of the poor street lighting in the same section of Craigflower Road, the residents said the area was "dark" and "treacherous."

Reeve A. I. Thomas said the plea of residents for improved bus service would be brought to the attention of the transportation committee, but that steps to improve the street lighting in the district could not be undertaken until next year.

Deacon Guilty Of Taxi Murder

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lawrence Deacon, 35, of Winnipeg, this afternoon was found guilty of the 1946 murder of Johann Johnson and was sentenced to be hanged next Jan. 21.

Sentence was pronounced by Chief Justice E. K. Williams of Manitoba Court of King's Bench. The jury returned its verdict after two hours' consideration. Johnson's body, slugged eight times with a heavy automobile bolt, was found in an outlying part of Winnipeg March 31, 1946.

Revise Korea Plan

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United States submitted a revised proposal today calling for withdrawal of American and Soviet troops from Korea within 90 days "if possible" after establishment of a proposed independent Korean government. Under the new United States plan, all foreign troops would be out of Korea by next summer instead of by next Jan. 1 as proposed by Russia.

Former Singer Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Painter Strong, former opera and stage star who appeared under the name of Eleanor Painter, died Monday night. She began her career in 1914, appearing in Europe and the United States in plays and operas. "Princess Pat" was created for her by Victor Herbert. She left the stage in 1931.

Traditional Custom To Be Followed In Depositing Colors With Church

St. George's Church, Cadboro Bay, on Sunday evening will be the scene of an impressive ceremony and service when the colors of the Naval Veterans' Branch No. 40 of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., are deposited in the church in time-honored traditional style.

Rev. William Hills, vicar of the church, will be the officiating clergyman. A veteran of the navy in World War II, Mr. Hills served on the flit-top Nabob, handled by Canadian personnel, when it was attached to the first cruiser squadron of the Royal Navy in the chase after the German battleship Tirpitz, north of Murmansk.

This being the "closest" Sunday to Remembrance Day, the program was designed as a memorial service to honor the branch's sacrifice in two world wars. Service will start at 7:30.

The ceremony to be followed in depositing the colors dates back to the days of the Battle of Waterloo. When the congregation has assembled inside, the church doors are closed and the officer in-charge of the color party will give three loud knocks on the door from the outside.

Mr. Hills and two wardens will open the doors, whereupon the officer in charge will inform them he has been commended by the president of the branch that the church has been chosen as a resting place for the colors. Mr. Hills will then request the officer that he inform the president and members of the branch every facility will be afforded in exacting his laudable wishes.

Following this, the color group vicar and wardens will move up the aisle singing "O God Our Help in Ages Past," when further words will be said pertaining to putting the colors in the safe-keeping of God, followed by the placing of the colors on the altar for consecration. From there the colors will be set up in the sanctuary.

Mr. Hills is of the opinion this is the first church in Greater Victoria to put up veterans' colors.

"No one can remove them. They will be held in the sanctuary of the present temporary church and then transferred to the new church when it is constructed—which I hope will be in about two years' time, and the finest structure of its kind in Greater Victoria," the vicar said.

The church will arrange the memorial service to follow. This includes Rev. Hills and two members of the branches reading off the names on the branch "Honor Roll." The Last Post will then be sounded, followed by a prayer and Reveille and the singing of "Eternal Father Strong to Save," to conclude the service.

Air Rescue Group Planned To Cope With Disasters

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is to have a Special Air Service Company of volunteer troops, specially trained for air search and rescue work and as a versatile force for any special service, such as in a catastrophe.

In announcing establishment of the force today, army headquarters said it now is being formed of volunteers from the three infantry battalions of the active force brigade group and is scheduled to begin training in mid-November at the Joint Air School at Rivers, Man.

Recruited up to strength, it will be a compact unit of five officers and 114 other ranks organized into a headquarters and three platoons. All will be parachute-trained and the force will be permanently stationed at the Rivers school and will have all the facilities of the school at its disposal.

In addition to its air search and rescue duties, the S.A.S. Company will be ready to fly to any point in Canada to give public service in a catastrophe. It will provide troops to aid tactical research and development in air-borne work and stage land-air warfare demonstrations for the benefit of military personnel and the public.

Some officers and N.C.O.'s already have been trained for the company and have participated in a number of rescues from remote areas. Most spectacular is the current "Exercise Canon" where four S.A.S. Company men, including a medical officer, were parachuted with medical supplies to the aid of Canon John H. Turner, an Anglican missionary seriously injured when accidentally shot at Moffet Inlet on Baffin Island in the Canadian Arctic.

COUPLE RESCUED

On another occasion, the army related, it was two S.A.S. officers who parachuted to the rescue of a U.S. sergeant and his wife whose plane had been forced down near Waterhen Lake in Manitoba, 170 miles north of the Joint Air School. Later a Norseman plane picked up the sergeant and his wife, who were not hurt.

Troops for the company will be drawn from the Royal Canadian Infantry Corps and for their special work, must have completed their general military training, must be 30 years of age or less, in first class physical condition, have an "M" test score of 140 or better and be recommended as above average intelligence and physical ability. Candidates must also be single.

Posting to the special company will be from two to three years.

Symphony Orchestra, Madame Green Give Victoria Program Of Sheer Delight

Audience in gallery listens intently as Victoria Symphony Orchestra opens its seventh season with the colorful overture, "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

By AUDREY STD. JOHNSON

From the moment that conductor Melvin Knudsen raised his hands and the strings shimmered forth the first notes of Nikolai's "Merry Wives of Windsor," the Victoria Symphony Orchestra held Tuesday night's capacity audience at the Royal Theatre enthralled until the last notes of the two-hour concert had died away.

Transportation difficulties had no effect on symphony-loving Victorians who crowded the theatre to acclaim what proved to be the most brilliantly successful concert of any in the orchestra's six previous seasons.

This opening event of the seventh season was further distinguished by the return to the local concert platform, after a two-year absence, of Gertrude Huntly Green, renowned Canadian pianist. In placing the principal work, the Moszkowski Concerto in E Major, in which Madame Green soloed, at the end of the program, Mr. Knudsen's wisdom and aesthetic sensibility was apparent. The program built up, through a succession of admirable performances, to the moment Mme. Green took her place at the piano and the limpid, cascading notes of the concerto poured from her fluent fingers. Anything further in the way of programed numbers would have been sheer anticlimax.

BREATHLESS INTRICACIES

Paderewski's observation that the piano compositions of Moritz Moszkowski "embraced the whole gamut of piano technique" was clearly demonstrated in the astonishing and breathless intricacies of the concerto.

Mme. Green appeared fresher, more scintillating than ever in her performance. There was a delicate crispness about the long, crystalline phrases, a rare virtuosity; rare because virtuosity does not stand alone with this artist, but is an integral part of her musicianship, the medium through which she applies her colors, or expresses a mood. There was a happy relaxation in all that she did, and the audience relaxed with her and enjoyed to the hilt one of the season's greatest thrills.

Mr. Knudsen directed the orchestra expertly through all phases of the accompaniment. The sympathy between himself and the soloist expressed itself in a fine degree of unity, precision, vitality and a gracious curving of the melodic phrase.

Insistent demands for an encore finally persuaded Mme. Green back to the piano, to delight her audience with Chopin's "Fantaisie-Improvisation" in C sharp minor.

As to the orchestra itself, striking developments have taken place. The tone is rounder and mellower; new subtleties are to be found in all sections, resulting in a greater refinement of shading, purer pianissimos, tighter discipline. For the much-enhanced beauty and brilliance of the strings, tribute must be paid to Carlo Smalley of Vancouver, who acted as concert master for this performance.

GRIEG WELL INTERPRETED

Edvard Grieg's lovely, lyrical compositions are particularly well adapted for smaller symphonies and the Victoria orchestra has given us some memorable interpretations of this music in past concerts. Never has the essential character of Grieg's writing been more fully realized, however, than in last night's performance of the Peer Gynt Suite No. 1. Pastoral flute and oboe, plucked string and tinkling triangle, dark-toned cello, French horn and bassoon, were conjured into miniature tone-poems by the expressive hands of Melvin Knudsen.

Sam J. D. Clack, financial head of the orchestra, smiles with satisfaction as he checks the returns in the box office of the Royal Theatre. Mrs. C. P. Mellander, who assists with the tickets, is shown making a last-minute check on reservations.

A successful experiment that added a touch of humor was the inclusion of the Polka from "L'Age d'Or," by Shostakowicz. But the most outstanding number, aside from the principal work, in point of achievement and progress of the orchestra, was the popular "Dance of the Hours" from Ponchielli's "La Gioconda."

Mr. Knudsen's reading was warmly imaginative and the orchestra responded with a performance that will long be remembered.

To the quiet enthusiasm, the vision and determination of the conductor who has guided the orchestra through six difficult years, must go a lion's share of the credit for this outstanding event and its promise of a fine season ahead.

Remembrance Day Plans Announced

Observance of Armistice Day will formally commence on Saturday when the poppy—the flower of remembrance—will be on sale in the city streets and throughout Greater Victoria.

On Sunday the Service of Remembrance will be held in Christ Church Cathedral at 3. The service will be conducted by Dean Elliott and will be undenominational. All veterans, together with the general public are invited to attend.

On Tuesday Remembrance Day, the annual ceremony will be held at the War Memorial at 11. For the parade to the War Memorial, naval and military detachments attending will assemble on Wharf Street and veterans of all services will assemble on Humboldt Street near Government at 10:35 headed by standard bearers and accompanied by the band of the Royal Canadian Navy which will furnish the music at the War Memorial.

The salute at the march past will be taken by Lieutenant-Governor Banks.

CAPITOL THEATRE

In "Merton of the Movies," which is now at the Capitol Theatre, Red Skelton has a role tailor-made to his talents as the screen's top comedy star.
His role as Merton Gill, the stage-struck movie usher who leaves the security and friendliness of Tinkerton, Kan., to brave the perils of the Hollywood of silent-film days give him unlimited opportunity to show his bag of tricks, and he makes the most of it. But added to the well-known Skelton boisterousness and affability is a Chaplinesque pathos which makes this Skelton characterization stand out by far as the best film part he has ever done.

YORK THEATRE

Starring Alice Faye, Dana Andrews and Linda Darnell with an outstanding supporting cast including Charles Bickford, Anne Revere, Bruce Cabot, John Carradine and Percy Kilbride, "Fallen Angel" now at the York Theatre.

ROYAL THEATRE

Betty Grable, who has flatly turned down her studio's many offers of straight dramatic vehicles, is happily pointing to a new trend in technicolor musicals. For the glamorous star, this trend is crystallized in "Mother Wore Tights," which is based on the real-life biography of vaudeville Myrtle and Frank Burt, who trouped across the country from 1902 until the late '20's. Betty plays the title role in the Twentieth Century-Fox film currently at the Royal Theatre.

DOMINION THEATRE

No screen role will ever duplicate the real-life excitement and danger of her wartime trip from her native Australia to the United States, says screen star Ann Richards.
The lovely blonde actress, who stars in "Lost Honeymoon," Eagle-Lion's romantic comedy currently at the Dominion Theatre, left Sydney, Australia, Dec. 8, 1941, the day after the Japanese struck Pearl Harbor and the day of the first bombing of Manila in the start of the Japanese drive towards Australia.

Two World Fliers Cross Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The round-the-world fliers, George Truman and Clifford Evans, prepared today for the shortest hop of their world-girdling effort—three miles.

The two former United States army fliers, enthused by their reception late Tuesday on arriving from Naknek, Alaska, scheduled a flight from Elmendorf Field to Merrill Field, municipal airport here, for servicing of their planes. They flew the 300 miles Tuesday in their tiny Cub planes in three hours 35 minutes.

They will stay over here for an extra day to get a "good rest" before taking off Friday for Annette Island, southeastern Alaska. They hope to make a non-stop flight from there to Los Angeles. Truman, now of Los Angeles, was born in Saskatchewan.

ATLAS THEATRE

Although Los Angeles has provided the background for numerous motion pictures, its city hall, police court and other civic buildings are featured for the first time in "Undercover Maisie," new attraction at the Atlas Theatre.

Spencer's Remnants Membership Grows

There was a record attendance of nearly 100 at the monthly meeting of Spencer's Remnants, held in the store dining-room Monday.

Owing to the greatly increased membership, it was decided to divide the organization into platoons, and the following additional officebearers were appointed: Sgt.-Maj., J. L. Cann; quartermaster, Ted Fuller; chief steward, A. Stroud, with platoon commanders, P. J. Rawlinson, H. C. McAlpine, N. French, W.

Walker; also one from the women's platoon.

Thirty-three new members were accepted into the organization and were attested by the president, who explained to them in a few well-chosen words the traditions, aims and ambitions of the Remnants.

A membership drive is at present being carried out through the store to absorb all ex-service employees into the Remnants and it is expected figures will show nearly 25 per cent of all employees of David Spencer Ltd. as being ex-service personnel.

The formation of a women's platoon is a comparatively new idea and attendance at the meeting showed 100 per cent. Plans were made for the Armistice Day parade, when smart berets with badges will be issued to all members participating together with suitable armbands. It is hoped that uniforms will be available for future parades and civic functions.

Fredric March Prepared To Film Christopher Columbus

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If you think winning an Oscar will induce Fredric March to settle in Hollywood, you have another guess coming.

The incumbent academy award winner is back in these wilds for "Another Part of the Forest," his first film since his award performance, but he won't stay. "I was tied down here for nine years," he said, referring to his servitude at Paramount in the '30s. "Never again."

One of the most demanded actors on stage and screen, he needs a term contract as much as he needs dramatic lessons. Instead, he likes to call his shots, doing films at intervals between stage appearances, which he usually makes with his wife, Florence Eldridge.

His next project is a mammoth one—portraying Christopher Columbus in an English film. Fred reported that plans are nearing completion and his Nina, Pinta and Santa Maria are already being built.

I asked him if his Oscars (the first one was for "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde") made nice book-ends. He said they did, "except that the second one is bigger than the first." Inflation has hit everything.

POWER AIRBORNE

Tyrone Power is reported to be flying across the Atlantic this week on his own plane. The Edward Small Company says the actor is to bring back some footage of "Cagliostro," which his friend Gregory Ratoff is filming in Rome. That's an expensive messenger boy.

Ida Lupino is abed with infected gums which resulted from extraction of her wisdom teeth. She should be recovered in time to start "Dark Love" with Victor Mature next month.

Ingrid Bergman, like many of us, is not impressed with the current crop of pictures. "Whenever I look in the paper for a show I look for a reissue," she told me. That would be a good idea if the reissues are as good as the currently revived "The Women," a thoroughly delightful old film. But most revivals are old clutrap that would best be forgotten.

BRIEF REVIEW

"Body and Soul" (Enterprise) deals a smashing blow to the emotions with one of the best fight pictures in many years. A forthright story of crooked dealings in lighters, it won't make New York boxing circles happy. The tough, humorless story is beautifully photographed, particularly in the realistic fight scenes. John Garfield again impresses as one of the most convincing of screen performers.

TEEN-AGE GIRLS SHOULD TAKE STOCK OF MANNERS AND APPEARANCE

A teen-age girl says she is pretty and popular with girls, but that she doesn't make a hit with the boys, and she wants to know why.

Not even the Quiz Kids could answer that question, for why one girl will have the boys buzzing around her like bees around a honeypot, while another girl, equally pretty and attractive, will have no one to love her but Mama, is one of the unsolved mysteries of life. All we know about it is that nature is an old meanie who puts the comeliest look in some girls' eyes and leaves it out of others', and that when a girl doesn't get it she is just out of luck, but there is nothing she can do about it.

But the teen-ager, who bewails her sad fate in not being a drug-store belle, need not feel that it is because of her lack of drawing power. It is the times. It is because the supply of boys

W.A.C.'s High Price On Huts Sets Back Esquimalt Deal

Obtaining 27 huts at Macaulay, McLaughlin Point and Peter Street by Esquimalt municipality, for resale to veterans to salvage the lumber for homes, has hit another snag after two months' negotiations, Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt said Tuesday morning.

The municipality can have the huts but it will cost them approximately $14,638 which the reeve and council consider unacceptable.

"We viewed these buildings and upon examination found that through vandalism and deterioration, the price asked for by the War Assets Corporation, is not acceptable to the municipality," the reeve said.

A COST OF $14,638
The huts have been offered Esquimalt at a cost of 8 per cent of the original cost, plus 10 per cent restoration charges, which would bring the total cost to the municipality to $14,638.

"It remains for the W.A.C. to send a representative to investigate further and survey the actual value of these buildings in their present condition," Reeve Thomas said.

"It is felt that if suitable adjustments can be made as to price, then negotiations will be opened enabling any veteran desiring to do so, to secure these buildings for the lumber they contain, subject to the approval of the War Assets Corporation."

In outlining the history of the municipality's attempts to purchase the huts, the reeve said

Goldenberg Says Business Tax Should Be Mandatory Here

A business tax should not be imposed in Victoria city unless it is made mandatory for the whole of the Greater Victoria area, H. Carl Goldenberg, author of the Goldenberg Report, told Alderman Edward Williams and City Comptroller D. A. Macdonald in Montreal.

Alderman Williams, chairman of the finance committee, who has just returned from a four-week trip to eastern Canada, where he checked bond markets for the city, called on Mr. Goldenberg while he was in Montreal, to discuss the business tax.

Mr. Goldenberg informed Alderman Williams that he favored classification of businesses for business tax purposes.

Ald. Williams also checked on the working of the sales tax in the Montreal area.

Ways and means of imposing the business tax are being canvassed by the City Council at the present time. It has been generally conceded by Mayor Percy George and members of the council that either the business tax will have to be imposed or the city will have to get more funds from the provincial government to keep its services up.

At the Union of B.C. Municipalities meeting in Harrison Hot Springs, however, representatives of both Oak Bay and Saanich spoke strongly against the mandatory business tax on a province-wide basis, and said they did not want the tax in their municipalities.

Quebec Controls Own Commercial Fishing, Says Minister Here

There is a considerable difference in the operations and authorities of provincial fisheries departments in B.C. and Quebec, according to a description of the eastern province's fisheries activities given Tuesday by Dr. C. E. Pouliot, Quebec Minister of Fisheries.

Dr. Pouliot pointed out that in Quebec all commercial fisheries come under the control of the province.

Quebec, the minister said, administers all its own freezing plants, the fishermen own all their own craft and no fish are canned.

The fisheries, of which Quebec province has 42, provide the fishermen with bait whenever needed.

These plants, which have a provincial staff to look after the machines and an inspector to grade the fish, are used by private companies and fishermen co-operatives for freezing their fish until ready for export.

Quebec only consumes about 20,000,000 pounds of its annual production of 120,000,000 pounds of fish, Dr. Pouliot said, and the rest is shipped out, some to western Canada, some to U.S. and other countries.

Dr. Pouliot, who has visited the Sooke traps, said they have nothing like that in Quebec. The Atlantic salmon, smaller than the B.C. salmon and different, is caught with nets. It is also more expensive on the retail market.

Kiwanis Club Elects Andrew M. Stewart

Andrew M. Stewart was elected president by acclamation at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in Empress Hotel Tuesday.

He will succeed Ralph Matthews, also elected by acclamation, were Donald E. Smith, vice-president, and F. Glenn Hope, treasurer. Directors will be elected at the next meeting.

The Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association will meet one week earlier than usual this month, Nov. 7, at 734 Fort Street at 8.

In city police court Tuesday 38 motorists paid $1 each for violations of the parking meter by-law, while six others paid $2.50 each for other parking infractions. There was one $10 fine for exceeding the speed limit in a school zone and a $15 fine for speeding.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES NEW YORK.

AUTUMN REFLECTIONS
OUT OF MY FOUR DAYS in New York, one was given over to a motor trip through some of the loveliest countryside I have ever seen, in weather which we couldn't surpass even in Victoria.

Friends—DeWitt Mackenzie, whose daily column appears in the Times, and his charming wife—motored me out to West Point on the Saturday, to give me a glimpse not only of the country around New York but also of the famed military academy.

I saw its magnificent buildings, all of turreted, battlemented grey stone, reminiscent of medieval castles of Britain, an impression heightened by their setting on the hillsides.

But not one of their 2,500 cadets were there, for they were on one of their extremely rare absences in New York—at a football match between the academy team and Columbia.

HIGHER THAN MALAHAT
BUT WHILE I SHALL NOT forget West Point in a hurry, the memory of the countryside colorings will remain with me even longer.

On the round trip we motored about 200 miles down—or is it up?—the Hudson River, through beautiful Westchester, New Jersey, and the foothills of the historic Catskills.

At several points, such as Bear Mountain and Storm King Mountain, the road rises to 3,000 feet, where the panorama below was unbelievably beautiful in the sunshine.

The Hudson is very broad, and at this time of the year the hills are a riot of color which seem to paint the surface of the river with reflected glory.

Instead of the huge, pointed, dark green coniferous trees of the Malahat, here the hills are covered with rounded maples, ash, oaks, birch, which, at the first frost, break out in a breathtaking symphony of color, with overtones of vivid crimsons, scarlets, flame and gold and an undertone of deeper hues in smudges and huckleberry.

FARMS AND ESTATES
IN BETWEEN, WE PASSED mile after mile of splendid rolling farmlands, with great herds of cattle browsing in the sunshine, or magnificent estates with Colonial mansions and sweeping parklands telling of gracious living.

But for much of the way we journeyed through a succession of state parks, set aside for the enjoyment of the public, yet easily accessible from metropolitan New York.

And all traversed by the marvelous highways—or "parkways" as they are called here, although it seems a misnomer, as the one thing you are not allowed to do is to park along them.

If you happen to meet with an accident, you have—somehow or other—to get the disabled car off the roadway on to the grass, as signs every hundred yards or so tell you.

SIGNS AND STATIONS
SPEAKING OF SIGNS, one of the things which struck me most on the whole drive was the absence of gas stations and billboards. They are forbidden by law on these parkways—in fact, billboards are forbidden on any of the state highways here.

But I must admit I was glad to see one sign recurring quite often. It read "Deer Crossing."

For it showed that, while the motoring public in this hustling, bustling part of the world don't seem to have much "time to stand and stare"—and certainly don't allow pedestrians to—they at least respect the crossing rights of the natural denizens of the woods.

Markets Closed

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Stock and Curb Exchanges, cotton market and other commodity exchanges here closed Tuesday, election day, but grain and livestock markets in Chicago and the cotton market in New Orleans were open, as well as grain markets throughout the country.
